SCHOOL BOARD AWARDS GO TO LOW BIDDERS

Fremont Concern to Build New Johnny Appleseed School At Cost of $293,000.

STARTS WORK ON DEC. 19

Mansfield Man Gets $19,755 Plumbing Job; Total Cost $280 Under Estimate.

Four contracts totaling $385,382 for construction of the Johnny Appleseed Junior high school building were awarded last night by the Mansfield board of education. All contracts were awarded on low bids, only one going to a Mansfield concern.

The major contract for actual construction of the building went to the Steinle-Wolfe Construction company of Fremont on its bid of $293,130. Fourteen contractors, including two in Mansfield, submitted bids on the building.

Heating Bid $47,600.

Contract for plumbing installation in the building went to E. F. Malone, Mansfield, on a bid of $19,755; heating equipment to the Becker-Seidel company, Cleveland, for $47,600, and electrical wiring installation to the Ginn Electrical company, Cincinnati, for $24,897.

The Fremont contractor said he would be ready to start work on the building on Dec. 19. The schedule set up by PWA asks that work be started by Dec. 20 and that the project be completed by Dec. 17, 1939.

PWA requirements which will govern construction of the school building made it mandatory that the board let the contracts to the lowest bidders, school board members said.

Estimated at $385,662.

The total cost of the project will be only $280 under the estimate of Althouse and Jones, Mansfield architects, who drew up the specifications. They had set the cost at $385,662.

The general contract was $10,782 below the architects' estimate of $303,912. Cost of the the heating equipment will be $12,600 higher than the estimate, the plumb-

Huston To Preside At Bribe Trial of Ex-Lorain Sheriff

Judge C. H. Huston of Richland county common pleas court today was assigned to preside at the bribery trial of former Sheriff William F. Grall of Lorain county, which is scheduled to open Monday morning at Elyria.

The assignment was made by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio supreme court on the recommendation of Common Pleas Judge Guy B. Findley of Lorain county.

It is believed that Judge Findlay and Judge D. A. Cook, Lorain county's other common pleas judge, will appear as witnesses in the case.

Council for Grall won the assignment of an outside judge on a motion which contended that "because of personal and private information concerning the case," Lorain county's two judges would be "unqualified to sit impartially in the trial."

Grall resigned as sheriff after he appeared as a state witness in a trial of bribery charges against four slot machine operators who were convicted of paying "protection" money to Grall. The former sheriff won immunity in that case but was indicted later on a charge of accepting $30 from the operator of a disorderly house.

WED DEC. 26

Liquor Director's Daughter to Marry O. S. U. Golf Coach.

BUCYRUS — Announcement of the engagement of Gertrude Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller, Bucyrus, to Robert H. Kepler, Columbus, was made in Columbus today, where Mr. Miller is state liquor director.

Both Miss Miller and Mr. Kepler are former Ohio State students. Kepler is now golf coach at the university. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kepler of Dayton.

The couple will be married Dec. 26 at the Miller home.

This Hiker Dresses As 'Blond'

CARLINVILLE, Ill.—(INS)—Gentlemen prefer blonds so Leo Robert Long made himself one to hitch-hike from Stoughton, Wis., down through Illinois.

But Leo ran afoul of trouble today when he was lodged in Macoupin county jail charged with stealing an automobile at Modesto.

Blond and curly haired, Leo, a youth of 19, had with him a bag containing a complete outfit of women's clothing.

Leo said he purchased the feminine attire to facilitate his trip south.

CHALLENGE TO PEACE THREATS HURLED BY EDEN

Ex-British Cabinet Member Calls For Democracies to Defend Principles.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — Anthony Eden, former British foreign secretary, prepared for a busy week-end today following his dramatic speech last night, in which he called upon the democracies to defend the principles upon which they were founded.

Painting a vivid picture of a world torn by unrest, Eden urged democracies to "hold fast to our faith, cradle it in stone, set steel to defend it."

Speaking at the concluding session of the American Manufacturers association before the greatest gathering of American business men ever assembled in this country, Eden hurled a challenge to the ideologies which he saw threatened world peace.

The English visitor's schedule calls for a visit to the World's Fair this afternoon. He will make a brief visit to Washington on Monday.

Audience Applauds.

Given a remarkable ovation by the more than 4,000 representatives of industrial America, the English statesman won his attentive audience instantly.

Warm applause greeted him as he said:

"We are not calling out for help from others nor seeking to lure others to pull our chestnuts out of the fire."

In opening his address, Eden stressed the unofficial character of his visit. He declared that it was "neither official, semi-official or even one-sixteenth part official."

CAPONE HAPPY

Gang Czar to Leave Alcatraz Jan. 19 For Year In Jail.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Al Capone is coming back next month but not to the Chicago he left in 1932 to serve a ten-year federal prison term for income tax evasion.

The scarfaced Capone, one time undisputed fuehrer of Chicago's gangland empire, is scheduled to leave Alcatraz in San Francisco bay on Jan. 19, 1939.

There is, however, a year's sentence in Cook county jail before he will actually be a free man. Then?

"He'll come out a law abiding citizen," aver his attorneys.

Face FBI Questioning on Bank Robbery

Federal bureau of investigation agents were expected today to question two men and two women concerning bank robberies in Ohio and Nebraska. Arrested following the kidnaping of an Ohio highway patrol corporal at Lebanon, the quartet was identified as David Cross, 29, of Hamilton, Pa., shown above at right; Coy Russell, 29, of Houston, Tex., lower center; Marie Day, 25, of Greenup, Ky., top center, and Naomi Hayes, 25, of Ashland, Ky., left. They are accused of kidnaping Parker W. Powell, as he investigated an automobile accident in which their car was involved.

Hull's Talk to Pan-American Delegates Today to Reveal Nation's Proposals.

(By United Press)

LIMA, Peru—A meeting of the powerful steering committee opened the business program of the eighth Pan-American conference today, with delegates hoping that substantial progress would be made.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull speaks this afternoon at the first plenary meeting of the conference and is expected to give the delegates from 21 American republics attending the meeting a full outline of United States proposals.

The conference atmosphere seemed auspicious as regards United States hopes for a declaration of continental solidarity and a warning to outside nations that any aggression against an American republic would mean united opposition.

United States delegates are carefully preparing the ground by

LASHED BY GALE

Australian Cities Menaced By Storm; 40 Injured.

SYDNEY, Australia—(AP)—A 75-mile-an hour gale crippled Sydney and other cities today and fanned dangerous bush fires in outlying areas.

Forty persons were injured in blazes which broke out in Sydney suburbs and surrounding territory. The high wind jolted a street car and a train from their tracks.

ARMS SHACKLED, GIRL, 17, HANGED

Authorities Find Chain, Rope Entwined Around Her Neck.

GALESBURG, Ill. — (INS) — The body of an attractive, unidentified girl, her arms locked behind her back with a padlock, was found hanging today from a tree at a chicken farm in Galesburg.

A small chain and a rope were around the girl's neck.

The body was found hanging from a lower branch of the tree, with the girl's knees touching the ground. On her slim shoulders was a man's topcoat containing some keys.

The girl was dark-complexioned, and about 17 years old.

SUBMITS PLAN

Arlin on Committee Offering School Foundation Solution.

H. W. Arlin, president of the Mansfield board of education and a member of a state committee on school finances, was in Columbus today to submit to Governor-elect John W. Bricker proposals for erasing the school foundation program's $17,000,000 deficit.

Arlin is a member of a subcommittee of six educational leaders throughout the state who were named by the Ohio Education association to study the school finance problem.

He said the committee expected to submit to Bricker information it received in a recent interview with bankers, oil company heads and highway department officials at Columbus, when plans for financing schools were considered.

Bricker called the session to obtain the committee's suggestions for consideration in formulating his school program.

G-MEN TO ENTER BANK 'JOB' QUIZ

Federal Agents to Question Quartet Jailed Following Officer's Kidnaping.

(By Associated Press)

LEBANON—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were expected here today to put two ex-convicts and their woman companions through an intensive grilling about a $2,700 bank robbery in Sebring which was a prelude to the kidnaping of a state highway patrolman and a wild manhunt in southwestern Ohio Thursday night.

The quartet, closely guarded and under heavy bond, was held for grand jury action Jan. 3 on charges of armed robbery and kidnaping while the FBI announced that detainers would be filed against the two men, David I. Cross, 29, of Hamilton, Pa., and Coy Russell, 29, alias A. D. Mitchell, of Houston, Tex., in connection with the Sebring robbery. The government eight months ago issued a detainer against Cross in connection with the shooting of a Pennsylvania state trooper.

The men, with Marie Day, 25, of Greenup, Ky., and Naomi Hayes, alias Hatfield, 25, of Ashland, Ky., were arraigned late yesterday, less than 24 hours after Corp. Parker W. Powell, 29, of the Wilmington patrol station was forced into his car near Waynesville and dumped out, manacled with his own hand-

TRANSFER IRWIN

Triple Killer 'Definitely Insane,' Sent to Hospital.

OSSINING, N. Y. — (INS) — Robert Irwin was transferred to Dannemora state hospital for the criminally insane today after serving 11 days of his 139-year prison sentence in Sing Sing.

The triple slayer's removal followed the formal report of prison psychiatrists, finding him "very definitely insane." Irwin, in his padded cell, had been under constant observation.

NEW NAVY COACH

Swede Larson of Marines to Direct 1939 Grid Team.

ANNAPOLIS—(AP)—Capt. E. W. McKee, director of athletics at the United States Naval academy, announced today the appointment of Capt. Emery E. (Swede) Larson, U. S. Marine corps, as navy's head football coach for 1939.

Captain Larson, commander of the marine detachment at the academy, succeeds Lieut. H. J. (Hank) Hardwick, who will return to sea duty.

'PLUS' SIGNS LEAD AGAIN IN CITY BUSINESS

C. of C. Review Shows They Are Ahead of 'Minus' For First Time In 8 Months.

ALL BUT ONE TOP OCTOBER

Auto Registrations, Sales, Building and Employment Reflect Uptrend.

Plus signs have returned to Mansfield business, from bank clearings to bus fares.

For the first time in eight months, the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce monthly review of business conditions showed more plus signs than minus signs in comparing current figures with those of the preceding month. Plus signs also appeared more frequently in comparison of the current month with the same month a year ago.

Compared With October.

Figures released today were for November and gave a comparison of November business with that of October as well as with November of 1937.

In the comparison with October, every classification of business with one exception was better in November. The lone exception was bank clearings, which were down 4 per cent.

Automobile registrations totalled 163 for November, as compared to 91 for October, a gain of 44 per cent. Automobile registrations for November also topped the record for the same month last year, 148, by 9 per cent.

Sales Tax Receipts Climb.

Automobile sales, building permits and sales tax receipts led the parade in November in increases over October. Building permits totalled $155,440 in November of 1938, 34 per cent better than the $101,857 for October and 63 per cent better than the $56,126 of November of 1937.

Sales tax receipts, based on the prepaid purchases of merchants soared 20 per cent last month as compared with October. The figures were $39,385 for November and $26,488 for October. Sales tax receipts dropped 3 per cent as compared with November of last year,

NAZIS WARN

Press Tells Rumania She's Headed For 'Evil End.'

BERLIN—(AP)—Rumania continued to absorb the interest today of the German press, which was frankly on the side of the Fascist iron guard organization King Carol has outlawed.

Koelnische Zeitung warned the Bucharest government it was playing with fire and prophesied the possibility of "an evil end."

Berliner Zeitung Am Mittag, under the captian "A Pompadour of the 20th Century," accused Madda Lupeschu, Carol's red-haired friend, of being responsible for the shooting of Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, iron guard leader who was killed with 13 followers Nov. 30.

Nazi experts expressed the opinion Carol could maintain his regime at the most only three months more.

HEADS OHIO C. OF C.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— A. Graves Williams, 43-year-old Portsmouth shoe manufacturer, headed the Ohio chamber of commerce today as successor to Alexander Thomson of Hamilton, who declined to seek a sixth term as president.

WILLARD WOMAN AMONG 3 MOST SERIOUSLY HURT

Sleeping Passengers Thrown Out of Berths, Wedged Between Seats By Derailing Cars; Scores Suffer Bruises, Cut By Flying Glass.

One hundred passengers and crewmen were shaken up and some slightly injured when the ten-car Fort Pitt, crack Baltimore and Ohio passenger train was derailed early today near Holgate, a Henry county town, Associated Press dispatches said.

One of the most seriously injured was Mrs. Michael Shaughnessy of Willard. She and two other women, Mrs. James Knowell, 40, of St. Paul, Minn., and Mrs. Helen Rowland, 42, of Chicago, were treated in a hospital. All three had to be taken from an overturned car through a shattered window.

Physicians from Defiance, Napoleon and Holgate, however, treated scores of persons for minor cuts and bruises at the wreck scene, eight miles east of here.

Mrs. Knowell and Mrs. Shaughnessy suffered severe cuts.

Estimates of the number of passengers on the limited eastbound train varied from 100 to 125. Physicians said all of them were pretty badly shaken up.

Engine Off Track.

The wreck occurred at 3:20 a. m. Trainmen expressed belief that the tender behind the second of two locomotives pulling the fas train was derailed, causing the cars behind it to leave the rails.

Mrs. Shaughnessy's husband, a retired railroader, said that many persons probably would have been killed except for the fact that all the cars were of steel construction.

"None of the cars shattered like they would have if they had been wood," Shaughnessy declared.

"It was the worst wreck I've ever seen. There was lots of confusion. Women were screaming and passengers were jammed between the seats as the lights went out and the coaches rolled over.

"Lots of men and women were in their night clothes."

Build Fires For Warmth.

Fires were built along the railroad right-of-way to warm the shivering passengers before they could be taken to nearby towns.

Trackage was torn up for hundreds of feet and other Baltimore and Ohio trains were rerouted.

Roy McKinley of Garrett, Ind., was the conductor, and Wilkey Hughes of Willard, the flagman on the train.

Another train picked up passen-

2 EVENTS BUT JUST 1 PRICE!

That's Muster-Cheers Answer To Skeptics on Yule Show; There's No Catch.

Mansfielders are skeptical of bargains.

Ask the Three Muster-Cheers. They know. Because they're having a heck of a time making people understand that the big Christmas ball and the midnight show are BOTH included in the price of the ticket to the ball, and that BOTH will be given at the same place on the same night—Monday, Dec. 19.

In the office of the Three Muster-Cheers, 405 Farmers bank building, the telephone rings 'steen times daily and voices ask:

"Where and when is the midnight show for the Christmas baskets this year? . . . Yes, I know the BALL is at the Coliseum on the 19th, but where's the show? . . . Oh, they're together? Well, how much does the show cost after you get inside the building? . . . Nothing? You mean the dance and the show are BOTH included in the 75 cents admission price? Well, my goodness! Sounds like a catch somewhere!"

And there, we submit mournfully, you are. We thought it would be nice to give Mansfield a bona-fide bargain in entertainment this year, by combining a charity ball and the usual music-and-dance revue. And to keep the price to that of former years.

But everyone doesn't believe it. They are sure there's a catch

FACES PEN TERM IN OHIO MURDER

Chillicothe Man Convicted In Slaying of Man, 61.

CHILLICOTHE —(AP)— Edward Burt, 47, was found guilty of manslaughter early today by a jury of seven men and five women who deliberated for more than eight hours over testimony in his trial on a charge of first degree murder in the slaying of Ben F. Hunter, 61.

The manslaughter conviction carries a possible prison sentence of one to 20 years.

Hunter was shot down as he accompanied Mrs. Bernadine Coleman to her home near Londonderry last July. The state alleged that Burt was jealous of Hunter's attentions to the woman, who testified that she had been intimate with both men.

MUST COLLECT

Sales Tax Order Given After Court Decision.

Vendors of candy in Richland county today had been instructed by the state sales tax division to continue collecting sales tax on candy, despite an appeals court decision, that candy is a food and therefore exempt.

The order warned vendors that if they failed to collect the tax they would be subject to prosecution and said the question of whether candy is a food would have to be decided finally by the state supreme court. In the meantime, vendors must continue to collect the tax.

The appeals court ruling has already been appealed to the supreme court for action.

The decision that candy is a food was handed down by the ninth district appeals court at Akron this week.

BATTLES DEATH

Policeman Wounded By Shots Fired During Melee.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — More than a score of capital policemen offered their blood today to help save a brother officer shot by another patrolman.

Patrolman Leonard Millman, 27, was wounded critically last night in a melee which followed an attempt by Patrolman Walter D. Ward to halt a fight in a tavern.

Richness Of U.S. Impresses Official From China, Here On First Visit

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

HE TRAVELLED half way around the world to attend the annual distributors' convention which closed yesterday at the Westinghouse plant. It was his first visit to Mansfield, but what's more it was his first visit to the United States.

He snapped to attention with outstretched hand as he was introduced as Mr. H. W. Breuer, manager of the import department of Melchers and company, Westinghouse distributors in Shanghai for the China republic.

Born in Bangkok, Siam, 55 years ago, of German parents, he was sent to school in Germany where he was educated at Hanover college before going to China in 1905.

One would have never guessed the age of this foreign trade executive. He looked much younger—perhaps 40 or 45. He was slightly gray but carried himself erect and appeared to be about as excited as a small boy on his first trip to the city.

He launched immediately into conversation about America—how he had landed at San Francisco 19 days after leaving Shanghai.

"What impressed me most?"

"The immensity of things in this country," he said in better English than one would expect from a person who has lived most of his life in the Far East.

"Everything has such proportions," he explained. "The richness of the country, the goodness of its people, such huge skyscrapers and modern airplanes and trains."

"Oh yes, the war in China," he remarked thoughtfully. "I suppose you would be interested in that, but there isn't much that I can tell you.

"I must congratulate the American newspapers for the fine report that they have been making on the war."

He explained that in Shanghai, he was able to receive American, French and German newspapers and found that the newspapers from the United States carried the "most accurate

Tells of High School Girls Meeting City Business Men

A 16-year-old high school girl, involved in a delinquency case against a 22-year-old married man who yesterday was paroled by Judge C. J. Anderson today had told a story to investigating officers that may lead to inquiry into the activities of a half dozen Mansfield business men.

In a two-page typewritten statement made to Harry Copper, assistant county probation officer, the girl gave the names of the men, all married, who have been associating with Senior high school girls at noon and after school.

Copper said the girl's statement had been made in connection with the delinquency charges which were drawn against Albert Danals, 33 Park drive, who was paroled by Judge Anderson yesterday, because the man's wife was an expectant mother.

Copper said that immediate investigation would be launched into the activities of the men who the girl said have been taking high school girls for automobile rides.

The girl's statement also named several high school girls she said had been "running around" with married men.

The statement said, according to Copper, that the men sometimes met the girls at noon and took them for automobile rides

Fickle Man Marries One, Wants Other

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

For a long time I went with a young man. One day he informed me he was going to get married and I would never see him again. After I got over the surprise of hearing this, I wrote him a letter, requesting the return of my photograph, and that he burn up all my letters. I even sent him a stamped, addressed envelope.

Now that he is married to this other girl, he tells me he isn't happy, and won't be happy with anyone but me. He wants to come and return my photograph to me personally, but I've been advised not to allow him to come. I still love him and want to see him.

He says if he did come over it would probably make trouble with his wife and me, and I don't want to be the cause of any trouble between a husband and wife. I like to see everybody happy. I think he still loves me, but I can't understand why he took this step. Would you advise me to see him?

BROKENHEARTED.

That was very good advice the friend gave you—not to see this fickle and changeable young man. If you did see him, it would only cause a scene which might create endless trouble. Write him a short note and tell him you're not interested in renewing the acquaintance, and please to return your photograph.

Don't waste your valuable time mooning over a human weathervane. He isn't worth it.

Tips on Gifts

These Clever, Practical Items Solve What to Give Problem

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW
(AP Feature Service Writer)

The question of "how personal?" is paramount in the young lady's choice of a gift for her current favorite, but no matter what the decision, it shouldn't be hard to find something within the proper bracket.

The Last Of Four Articles

An expensive and personal gift might express too great an interest for what might be just a passing fancy, and the etiquette book's rule that it's safer to err on the side of unoriginality is a good one to follow in doubtful cases.

That calls for choices along the books-handkerchiefs line, but there's a wider range to choose from if the gift is for the buyer's fiance.

Fuzzy fur lounging slippers would be well within the bounds of correctness in such a situation. Take it from shopping counselors, most girls would know whether that gift or any other hit the spot.

Proper choice requires analyzing the man and most women buyers are good at it, they say.

For golf fans, there's a tricky golf ball made of soap which the young man can hang around his neck in the shower. No danger of getting killed by slipping on a cake of soap with this gadget around.

For the man about town with an establishment of his own, there's a brass door knocker with his entire name on it. He'll be proud of that and it's a good, impersonal gift, too.

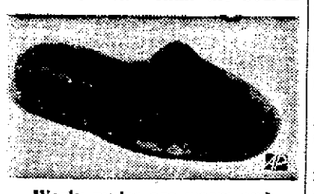
If he's a hard working young business man, the stores offer a fancy memo pad with a clock set in the center. The hands of the clock point to the engagement hour noted on the calendar. No chance of his forgetting his luncheon date with the young lady if he has this contraption.

The home-work young man could use a man-sized desk set with a large blotter and large leather accessories.

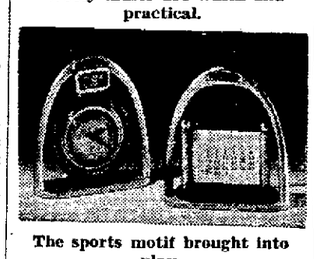
A desk calendar and clock, each set in stirrups, brings the sports motif right to his work table.

An extra-special gift offering might be a specially engraved cigarette case. The cover of one looks like an envelope addressed in the giver's handwriting—and with a December 25 postmark.

The old reliable military brush gift with a new wrinkle is another possibility — one of the brushes has a hollow top holding comb, tooth paste and other articles.

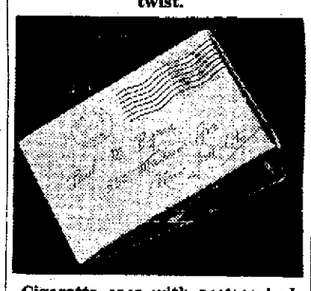


Wooly mules are warm and practical.



The sports motif brought into play.

Military brushes with a new twist.



Cigarette case with postmarked cover.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, December 11.

Sunday's horoscope holds excellent promise for all affairs of the church, the clergy and all old-established matters. But sudden events also obtrude, upsetting plans and causing irritations and disturbances in both private and business affairs. There are signs of a sudden estrangement.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of excellent opportunities for promotion, advancement, honors and the aid of those in high places. But with this there is an omen of irritating and unwelcome upheavals, which may react on the private emotions as well as in business dealings.

A child born on this day may have an adventurous, ambitious and dramatic nature, clamoring for thrills and stirring exploits. But a jealous and possibly eccentric nature may bring defeat to a promising public career. Similar proclivities disturb its romantic experiences.

For Monday, December 12.

Monday's astrological forecast holds promise of much activity and possible excitement or agitation. This relates to the launching of important projects in which there is hope of support from those in prestige and authority. While such enterprises may gain by strenuous methods and bold strokes, a degree of "policy" or finesse would likewise assist.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a very lively and progressive year. Those in power seem disposed to offer substantial aid in launching important projects, either of a speculative nature or those that are practical and constructive.

A child born on this day may be particularly talented and brilliant, with strong inclinations to exploit his talents

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Each night about eleven o'clock," I began slowly, "I would like you to post me a letter from any convenient mailbox—no need to camouflage so ordinary an action."

"No," Miss Whitlock smiled, "especially as I have posted letters every day since I have been here. I have been catching up with my correspondence since I virtually have nothing else to do. My going to the nearest mailbox will excite no comment."

"Exactly," I returned. "Address the letter to the name I gave you, care general delivery, station —. That is near the hotel where we shall be staying, and if our luck continues to hold this afternoon, and the detectives do not find out where we are going, I shall be able to slip out and get the letters unobserved."

"That appears very probable," she said with the aversion to hard and fast statement, characteristic of her profession. "And I'll see that they are posted according to schedule. What do you want me to write in them?"

"Everything, no matter how trivial, that has occurred during the day, up to the time you write the letter," I told her.

"Will a call from Mr. Veritzen constitute an emergency?" she asked.

"Not unless he's dying," I returned grimly. "Try to convince him that we have gone to friends in South Jersey, and tell him that I did not know their telephone number and told you I would send it to you. Say that I left in such a hurry I did not give you the address, and that I have not yet sent you a letter. Be as convincingly perturbed over my negligence as possible."

Miss Whitlock flashed a whimsical smile at me.

"I can't 'put on an act' to equal Mary's," she said, "but I'll do the best I can to fool him."

"I'm betting on you," Mary said enthusiastically, "but wouldn't I like to be two little mice in the wall when you hand my darling pa-pa-in-law that yarn! Oh boy! oh boy! will he tie himself up in 40 bow knots? I'm asking you."

"Probably sixty," I told her, laughing. "And now, Miss Whitlock, for the last detail. If I have to get hold of you in a hurry, I shall telephone you at the Lansfield, using a disguised voice, ask after Mary and myself as if I were an inquiring friend, and wind up by asking you to have me call this mythical friend when I come in. That will be your cue to leave the hotel as soon as possible and telephone me, trusting to Providence that no eavesdroppers are near you."

"I meant to tell you before," the nurse returned, "that you need have no fear about eavesdroppers when I telephone. "A good friend of mine lives about three blocks from here, and I have a key to her apartment. She has her own telephone, and a call from there to you would be foolproof."

"Oh! but that is wonderful!" I said, infinitely relieved. "That is a great worry off my mind. And now, I suppose, we must break off this conference. If only our luck holds!"

Miss Whitlock's face suddenly held the "Doubting Thomas" look again.

"Have you thought—?" she asked hesitantly, and left the rest of her query in the air.

"Go on," I said. "What is worrying you?"

"Why—I was wondering," she said, "whether they may not have thought it worth their while to shadow me here, figuring they might draw you and Mary as a reward."

My Neighbor Says:

To measure milk or other liquids, place the cup on a flat surface and pour in the required amount. Never tap the side of a cup to level dry ingredients—since such tapping often packs them and increases the actual amount of the ingredient in the cup.

Thoroughly wash and dry all metal utensils before storing them in the cupboard—to prevent rusting. It is also a good idea to place them over a burner on the stove for a few seconds after washing and drying them.

"The Authority on Authorities"

MOVE GINGERLY

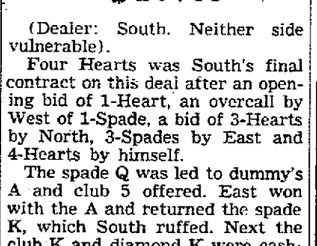
There are hands which require delicate manipulation. The declarer who merely slambangs ahead with a run of trumps and then trying to set up a side suit, or who embarks upon a policy of trying to ruff out all of his losers, may take a licking. But the fellow who feels his way along, doing a little of this and a little of that, at just the right time in each case, can steer a safe zizag course between the shoals.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable).

Four Hearts was South's final contract on this deal after an opening bid of 1-Heart, an overcall by West of 1-Spade, a bid of 3-Hearts by North, 3-Spades by East and 4-Hearts by himself.

The spade Q was led to dummy's A and club 5 offered. East won with the A and returned the spade K, which South ruffed. Next the club K and diamond K were cashed and the club 4 ruffed in dummy, covering West's heart 7 with the 9. The heart 2 was then led to the A and when the diamond J was played, West ruffed with the heart K. His spade J return was trumped with the heart 5 and followed by a club ruff in the North hand. The diamond A was played next, then the heart Q and a diamond ruffed with the heart 10.

Declarer timed the hand perfectly. Had he attempted to draw trumps or counted on setting up the diamonds, he would have been defeated.

Tygers Beaten by New 'Sudden Death' Rule In Overtime

Random Shots

PRESSURE MAY BRING UP NIGHT FOOTBALL QUESTION IN NEAR FUTURE

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor.

AGITATION for night football at Mansfield high school is again brewing, and, eventually, the Tygers may strut their wares under the artificial lights.

The question of night football has come to light on different occasions in the city. In fact, it is supposed to have been one of the reasons the Tygers were checked out of the N. C. O. conference.

The board of education refused to sanction nocturnal appearances for the Tygers at the time, and it is not known whether it has had a change of mind, but pressure may be applied to bring about consideration of the issue at some future date.

The board realizes that night football pays greater dividends, but it can point out that Mansfield has never lost by presenting the home schedule in daylight. Whether the additional income created by night football could be used to advantage by the athletic department has never been brought up for discussion before the board, we believe.

The board objects to the night game because it must be played under adverse conditions. The welfare of the players must be considered, it contended the last time the matter came up. Parents objected, too. Not only the parents of the players, but students, as well. Nocturnal football would keep them out late at night.

Board members have an argument, but so do Mansfield gamegoers, particularly the merchants and store employes.

Most of the objection against daylight football is that so many followers of the school's athletic teams cannot attend Saturday afternoon. These fans contend that they now must go to neighboring cities on Friday nights for their football.

Mansfield college rooters point out that they are deprived of opportunities to see the Tygers play because they prefer to spend their Saturday afternoons in the stadia at Ohio State and other schools.

Night football would give these fans a chance to see the Mansfield gridders in virtually every game, and the school would benefit by an increase in receipts.

Few Ohio Schools Play In Daylight.

MANSFIELD and Canton McKinley are two of the few larger schools in the state which now play only afternoon football. And Canton, unless it considers the night home appearances of Massillon as too much opposition, will probably erect lights as soon as its new stadium is completed.

Every Class A school in this vicinity played night football last fall except Mansfield and Ashland, and the reason Ashland has not gone to the night game is because the arrangement it had to use the college field fell through.

Football fans in this territory had no choice of football games except Mansfield, and this did not give Mansfield any appreciable advantage, judging from the crowds which were only fair for all of the home appearances except the Massillon affray.

Football is probably not as interesting at night as in the daytime, but few schools find it difficult to draw crowds, and this is proof that more persons are free to go to games.

OHIO STATE, BIG 10 FOES OPEN SCHEDULE TONIGHT

CHICAGO —(INS)— Basketball takes over the sports spotlight in the midwest tonight with every Big Ten team except Iowa and Purdue slated to see action. All of the games will be of the non-conference variety. The conference race does not get under way until next month.

Going into action tonight will be Northwestern, playing host to Pittsburgh; Chicago at Marquette; Wisconsin at Notre Dame; Washington U., at Illinois; Michigan State at Michigan; George Washington at Ohio State; Miami (O.) at Indiana; and Carleton College at Minnesota.

TOLES FAILS TO SHOW RIGHT IN BARLUND WIN

NEW YORK—(AP)—They were saying today Roscoe Toles, the dusky Detroiter, had finished Finnish Gunnar Barlund's prospects in the American heavyweight preserve by a 10-round decision last night—but Toles' own rating was not helped much.

This was because the big Detroiter kept firing a reseating right into Barlund's face throughout the fight last night only to find it was too small a caliber.

Suffer First Defeat

Mansfield, Handicapped by Small Floor, Bows to Cleveland West, 38 to 37.

By CHARLES MARTIN

MANSFIELD High's Tygers ran into the "suicide" overtime period at Cleveland last night and were not the least happy over the encounter.

With 33 seconds to go, and the Tygers leading by a 37-36 count by virtue of Tom Scott's foul conversion, Walt Flash intercepted a Mansfield pass and sank a difficult side shot to give the Cowboys of Cleveland West a 38 to 37 overtime victory in a wild and woolly affair before a disappointing crowd

New Rule Costly.

The clubs played under the new "sudden death" rule that automatically gives the game to the first team scoring two points. If the teams fail to tally a basket, the contest goes to the club scoring one point in the three-minute session.

Coach Russ Murphy's youngsters, their passing handicapped by the small floor, unleashed a potent scoring attack in the opening half but were unable to stop the rough-and-tumble brand of ball displayed by the Cowboys after the intermission.

It looked as though Mansfield had the game "in the bag" in the closing seconds of the regular game, but Pete Kosch, who set the individual scoring pace with 16 points, dropped in a rebound to knott the score at 36-all as the gun ended the affair.

The Tygers had things under control most of the opening half and even in the overtime missed several shots anyone of which would have won the game.

Scott, who topped the Tygers in the scoring column with 11 points, enabled his team to remain in the thick of the battle in the second half by collecting nine of his total.

The quintets battled through the opening stanza to a 6-all deadlock, but Mansfield began clicking and forged ahead, 21 to 14, at halftime. The Cowboys rallied to take a 30-28 advantage as the clubs went into the final period.

Mansfield encountered trouble all the way in rebounding. The Tygers were able to get their hands on the ball, but were unable to hold onto it. Numerous times Mansfield lost the ball attempting to move up from the backcourt.

Cleveland, with a veteran team on the planks, started out on even terms with the Tygers and then grabbed a 4-3 lead in the opening seconds of the tussle, but once Mansfield found the range it had little trouble outscoring the hosts in the first two stanzas.

The officiating was spotty throughout, and the brand of ball played by the Cowboys was exceedingly rough. Cleveland had the Tygers bottled up in the last two chapters, particularly under the baskets, with close guarding.

Retrieve Rebounds.

Jack Dugger and Dave Shelley were the two mainstays in rebounding, but were unable to toss the ball back out to their teammates. Shelley also scored his share of rebounds, following Scott in scoring with 10 points.

Mansfield, which last week in winning from Shelby displayed some clever passing, was never able to start it working with any results last night. The Cowboys, accustomed to the small court, were knocking down the short Mansfield passes most of the time.

SOFTBALL PLAYERS DINE ON VENISON AT G. B. U.

Game brought to the earth in Canada recently by Game Warden C. L. Kimmel will be the main dish at a venison dinner to be held for City Class A league softball players at G. B U. park, Sunday. Frank Beeber and Sam Hollingsworth are in charge of the dinner.

MORAL: Worry Brings Bowl Bids

Wallace Wade of Duke (left) had his anxious moments whenever someone threatened to score on his team this year, but he ended with a Rose Bowl invitation. T. C. U. Coach Dutch Meyer (extreme right with his star and chief assistant worrier, Davey O'Brien) looked like this as his Horned Frogs staged one of their 10 wins. Now they go to the Sugar Bowl.

Howard Jones of Southern California (left) is a grid worrier of long standing. Now he has a Rose Bowl invitation and a victory over Notre Dame. Bill Kern (right) of Carnegie Tech was especially worried as he protested, unavailingly, a decision in the Notre Dame game. (Elmer Layden, back to camera, dark suit.) Carnegie will meet T. C. U. in the Sugar Bowl.

Neidhammer Ohio Brass, Hits for 638

Leads Individual Scoring At Meder Alleys.

Neidhammer of the Tool & Pattern shop keglers set the individual scoring pace at the Meder alleys last night with a 638 total.

Rolling in the Ohio Brass league, Neidhammer socked the uprights for counts of 200, 234 and 204.

Cheney of the Coremen wallaped the sticks for a 630 series, which he climaxed with a 236 game. Zellers led the Iron Finishing No. 1 club to the high team total of 2721 with a 627 count.

Shelby Finds Bellevue Five Tough, Too

Whippets Suffer 33-11 Beating In Road Game.

BELLEVUE—The Whippets of Shelby high school found the going too tough again last night when they bowed to Bellevue, 33 to 11, in this city.

It was the second straight setback for the Whippets, who bowed to Mansfield, 29 to 13 last week.

Last night's game developed into a rough-and tumble affair, with the home town boys holding the edge all the way. Shelby never scored more than four points in any period as it was limited to three field goals. A total of 26 fouls were called in the wild game.

Bellevue stepped into a 9 to 2 lead in the first period, held a 20 to 5 advantage at the half and was in front by a 25 to 9 count at the end of the third frame.

Hime, with 11 points, and McClain, with nine, were the high point collectors for Bellevue. Lehman was high for the Whippets with four.

BELLVILLE, MT. GILEAD PLAY AT HOME TONIGHT

Only one high basketball game is on tonight's program in the county and it rates as one of the best early season attractions. It is scheduled at Bellville and it pits Coach Royd Hadge's men against Lucas in a league battle.

Galion of the N. C. O. conference plays at Mt. Gilead tonight, while Danville goes to Loudonville.

Plymouth Extends Win Row

Tigers Trim Greenwich For Fourth Straight Victory.

GREENWICH — Plymouth high school basketeers extended their winning streak to four games here last night as they walloped Greenwich, 34 to 14, in a Twin-Valley league game.

Led by Leroy Ellison and Earl Cashman, the Tigers literally rained the hoop with shots after the first period when they were held to a 4 to 3 lead.

The hosts kept pace with Plymouth in the second period, which ended with the Tigers in front, 11 to 9, but they were completely outclassed in the second half.

The visitors registered 23 points in the final two periods while limiting Greenwich to only five. Plymouth tallied 16 of its points in the fourth quarter.

Ellison was the Plymouth scoring leader with 14 points. Cashman was not far behind with three buckets and three free throws. Strimple tallied eight points for the losers.

The Greenwich reserves took the measure of the visiting second, 16 to 12, in the first game.

Berens to Appear at Ontario Tonight

Bernie Berens, one of the greatest basketball players ever developed at Ohio U., will appear with the Earl Dairys of Marion against the Ontario Sohioans at Ontario high tonight. Berens, who won all-Ohio mention as a center, is now coaching at Marion St. Mary's Catholic high school.

The Ontario Ex-Hys will face the Blue Goose Sohioans of Mansfield in the preliminary game at 7:30 p. m.

The Sohioans' lineup will include Hummel, Friday, Bosko, Wentz, Bogantz and Patterson.

Rams Turn Back Improved Indians.

COACH ORVILLE KIBLER'S green Ontario high cagers showed 100 per cent improvement over their opening perfarmance of last week. They will still be heard from this season, Ontario rooters boasted today.

However, the Kiblermen were not quite ready for such a formidable foe as Madison last night and they suffered a 36 to 23 whipping on their own hardwood.

Coach Al Fendrick's Rams jumped in a 11 to 5 lead in the opening period and held a 15 to 12 advantage at the intermission, although outscored 7 to 4 in the second quarter.

The Indians again held the Rams on fairly even terms in the third chapter as it tied the count twice, but they could not deny the Madison basket pitchers in the final period.

Madison loosened up the tribe's defense sufficiently in the last period to tally 16 points to put the victory on the proverbial ice. Ontario was limited to seven points.

Bill Wilkins was the head man in the scoring column as Madison remained in a tie with Butler for the league lead. He dropped six buckets through the net. Gene Harmon tallied eight points.

Mets Hager led the Ontarions with four baskets and four tosses from the charity line.

The Ontario reserves edged the Madison seconds, 6 to 4, in a low scoring battle in the prelim.

60,000 to See Pro Title Go

Giants, Packeres to Do Well Financially In Game.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Close to 60,000 fans will bank themselves in the Polo Grounds tomorrow to watch the New York Giants and the Green Bay Packers fight for the championship of the National Professional Football league.

It is the season's real "sugar" bowl game, with the players of the contending teams splitting 60 per cent of the gate receipts and the respective owners also doing very well for themselves.

Each member of the winning side will realize something like $600 to help him through the winter, while the losing gladiators will pocket about $400 apiece This in addition to the fairly fat salaries they have received in the past several months.

The scramble for seats has been so enthusiastic that even the federal agents are trying to find out what happened to all the seats between the 10-yard lines. Tim Mara, owner of the Giants, is trying hard to explain to their satisfaction.

The game is regarded as a toss-up, despite the fact the Giants gave the western division champions a thorough going-over on their last visit here. The Packers, on that occasion, gained practically all the ground, but the Giants scored the touchdowns. Tomorrow the Packers will have Don Hutson, the best pass receiver in the league, back in their line-up.

A week ago the Giants looked like one of the hottest elevens in history as they squelched the Washington Redskins, 36 to 0, for the eastern division title.

SHILOH PLAYS TONIGHT

The Twin-Valley league game scheduled between Shiloh and North Fairfield last night was postponed, it was revealed today, and it will be played in Shiloh tonight.

Madison, Butler Share Top Rung

Bulldogs Hand Lucas First Loss In Defensive Battle; Lexington Turns Back Union Forces.

COUNTY championship hopes were a bit brighter at Butler high school today. Coach Bob Burgett's young men of the court registered their second county league victory of the season over Lucas by an 18 to 15 count on the home planks last night.

It was one of the lowest scores hung up in the league in several seasons and, incidentally, the game was staged by what are regarded to be two of the heaviest point-making machines in the district Class B circles.

Both clubs employed zone defenses on the small court and the set-ups were responsible for the low scoring in this game. Neither team was able to drive into the basket regularly and virtually all of the buckets were hung up from long range.

Tom Greulich of Lucas, who won the league scoring title last season, and Kenny Miller, Butler's sharpshoter, failed to obtain baskets last night. Greulich had to be content with one free throw.

It was a hard-fought ball game all the way and the Bulldogs trailed until the third period. Lucas tallied seven of its 15 points in the opening period to hold a three-point lead going in the second chapter.

Allowing only one basket, Burgett's men reduced the count to 9 to 8 in the second quarter. The Bulldogs registered eight points in the next frame to obtain a 16 to 12 advantage. Butler concentrated on the defense in the last period to protect its slim lead.

Only 10 fouls were called during the heated affray by Referee George Donges, and only one of the infractions was inflicted against Lucas.

Butler outscored Lucas from the field with nine baskets to six. Ward and Bowman each contributed three buckets to the Butler total. Crawford and Franks were high for the losers with six points apiece. The defeat was the first of the season for Coach Al Axe's basketeers.

Arnold accounted for 14 points to lead the Butler seconds to a 23 to 22 triumph over the Lucas reserves.

Lexington Hangs Up First Victory.

THE Minutemen of Lexington high broke into the win column in the Richland county basketball league by smothering Union high, 32 to 18, on the Lexington court last night. It was Union's second league setback.

Coach Johnny Reese's fast improving combine, smarting from its defeat by Butler last week, went on a scoring spree in the second frame to grab an advantage that was never threatened.

Union gave the Minutemen a battle in the opening stanza which ended with the clubs deadlocked at 9-all. But Lexington, paced by Roberts, who scored 15 points to set the individual pace, had little trouble after gaining the upperhand.

A highlight of the contest was the stout defense displayed by Lexington in the final period when it held Union scoreless.

The Minutemen went ahead, 19 to 13, at the half, and increased its lead to a 26 to 18 count going into the final quarter.

France added nine points to the Lexington cause, while Tolles, Union forward, set the scoring pace for his team with seven.

The Union reserves copped the preliminary attraction by turning back the Lexington seconds, 18 to 16, in a nip-and-tuck affair.

"Woods and Waters"

By YUNCKER BROS.

THERE are probably quite a few hunters in Ohio who would have profited by knowing their hunting regulations as one Columbus man knows them. On the first day of the hunting season, according to the Columbus Dispatch, the person in question was arrested and fined $30 in Delaware county for having three cock pheasants in his possession. The nimrod had been hunting with friends in Marion county and had the license of one of his friends with him to show that the extra cock bird had been killed by another member of the party.

But even so, there apparently is nothing in the law or conservation regulations dealing with the number of birds in possession on the first day of hunting season. The conservation department merely says two is the limit and that "not more than one day's limit (2) of cock pheasant shall be held in possession at one time by any person after the first day of open season." What can be had in possession on the first day is not mentioned on the regulations card, the arrested hunter pointed out.

So this week Delaware authorities returned the hunter's check for $30.

The feeding of wild birds and animals this winter should start now, even though there is no apparent need for it. Feeding now will get the birds and animals used to the feeding stations and then when heavy snow or ice covers up their other food, they will always know where to get a square meal in a hurry.

Attractive Games Await Basketball Devotees On Senior High School Court Monday Night

MANSFIELD basketball goers should make it their business to be on time for the opening game on Monday night's City Class A league schedule at the Senior high school if they don't want to miss anything.

It so happens that the headline game on next week's card is the first tilt, and it should be a thrilling court affray.

The game pits the Yuncker Sports against the Elks, and it is scheduled to hit the planks at 7:30 p. m. And what will happen after the tip-off is hard to say.

Both the Sports and Elks won their opening games this week, and they looked like potential champions in their debuts.

The outcome of this game is important because the winner will cinch at least a share of the title of the first of a series of rounds.

Jimmy Brerer's Sports displayed loads of scoring power in their inaugural with the Hi-Speeds Heading the offensive unit of the club are Johnny Freese and Al Stickler.

Tommy Farrell and Jack Miner were outstanding as the Elks toppled the Westies, and they should stage quite a scoring dual with Roose and Stickler Monday.

The other game on the second week's program sends the Westinghouse Electrics against Herrick's Hi-Speeds. While both teams lost their first games, they can not be labeled as set-ups.

Both quintets will be heard from before the season gets along very far. The Hi-Speeds are expected to be strengthened Monday by Gene Brandon, former Mansfield high star, and George Fisher, late of Shelby high.

The winner of this game will go into a tie with the loser of the opener for second place.

TO- J. A. PLUMB, Adv. Mgr. SUBJECT- Circulation DATE- Dec. 6, 1938
J. M. O'HARA, Class. Ad. Mgr.

Both of you gentlemen will, beyond question, be interested in the circulation figures contained herein.

The News-Journal's circulation is going up--and going up RAPIDLY.

In September, we showed an increase of 259 copies per day over August.
In October, we showed an increase of 282 copies per day over September.
In November, we showed an increase of 287 copies per day over October.

From all indications, December will show a good gain over November.

Of course, the firms using our columns for advertising will be glad to know of this increase--which certainly indicates unusual reader acceptance and brings their advertising message to an ever-increasing number of homes in our circulation area, making our paper a stronger and stronger medium for them.

New Pro Coach

Former All-American backfield star at Stanford university and recently backfield coach at the University of Iowa, Ernie Nevers now has signed a one-year contract to coach the Chicago Cardinals of the national professional football league. Nevers succeeds Milan Creighton, who resigned.

Cardinals Get Pick of Stars

Hold Prior Right to Players If They Turn Pro.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The Chicago Cardinals, who won only two games this season, today held the excusive right to dicker for the professional services of eight of the country's outstanding college football players of 1938.

The Cardinals, who finished last in the western division of the National Professional League campaign, had first crack yesterday at the current crop of college stars in the annual draft session and came up with excellent prospects.

The Cardinals numbered among their 20 prospects such outstanding players as Ki Aldrich, Texas Christian center; Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburgh fullback, Wolff, Santa Clara tackle; Stebbins, Pittsburgh, halfback; Daddio, Pittsburgh end; Dwyer, New Mexico back; Brown, Notre Dame, end; and Wyatt, Tennessee, end.

That does not mean, however, that all those players will wear Cardinal uniforms next year. The agreement merely gives the club's prior right to the players named if they choose to turn professional.

The Cardinals, however, are certain to sign Aldrich, almost a unanimous choice for center on the various All-America squads, because he has indicated he will turn professional.

The Brooklyn Dodgers came up with Bottari, California back; McLeod, Dartmouth back; Young, Oklahoma end; Hill, Duke center, and Heikkinen, Michigan guard. Only Bottari seems like a possible newcomer to the pro ranks. Most of the others have indicated they will not turn professional. Philadelphia got Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian's great passing back But Davey already has said he is not interested in professional football. Cleveland selected, among others, Parker Hall, Mississippi back.

MEL HEIN WINS MOST VALUABLE PLAYER AWARD

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Mel Hein, New York Giant center and former star at Washington state, today was ranked the most valuable player in the National Professional Football league. He will be presented with the Gruen award of merit at tomorrow's professional game between the New York Giants and Green Bay Packers.

FOUR GAMES SCHEDULED AT SETTLEMENT MONDAY

Monday night's Friendly House basketball program will send the Wildcats against the Tigers and the Bulldogs against the Bombers in the Senior colored league and the Red Birds against the All-Stars and Bears against the Lions in the Intermediate league.

McKEESPORT TO FLORIDA

MIAMI, Fla.—(U.P.)—McKeesport, Pa., high school has accepted an invitation to play in the annual Christmas day high school football game here. Miami and Edison, which tied 6-6 Thanksgiving eve, will play Dec. 19 for the right to meet McKeesport, a team which won 10 of its 11 games this season.

FELLER DRIVES AGAIN

DES MOINES, Ia.—(AP)—Bob Feller, Cleveland Indians' pitching star, had his driver's license back today temporarily through filing a notice of intent to appeal to the state supreme court. His license was suspended for 90 days recently after he was convicted of speeding 87 miles an hour in his new car.

GALION TO HEAR PEDEN

Don Peden of Ohio U., who spoke at The News-Journal banquet for the Mansfield grid squad Tuesday, will be the principal speaker at the dinner to be tendered the Galion eleven Monday night.

Chuckovitz Opens Drive To Eclipse Ohio Record

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Chuck Chuckovitz, idol of Toledo basketball, opens his drive tonight to eclipse the all-time Ohio basketball scoring record set by Nick Frascella, Wooster's great forward, who was graduated last spring.

Chuckovitz's debut in what he hopes will be his third and greatest year was with the Toledo Rockets who inaugurated a 28-game schedule against Hillsdale college of Michigan in Toledo. The lanky Toledo forward must average only 8.8 points per game to eclipse the three-year grand total of 985 points set by the tricky Frascella.

Warns Against Frosh Games

Loop Plans Drastic Action For Violation In Future.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—An ultimatum to "keep freshman football squads out of inter-school games" hung over the 20 members of the Ohio athletic conference today, following a reprimand handed four "first offenders" at the winter meeting of the group last night.

Kent State, John Carroll, Case School of Applied Science and Baldwin-Wallace escaped with the "don't do it again" warning after admitting violation of conference rules by playing their freshman squads against each other, but the league promised more drastic action for future offenders.

L. K. Butler of Oberlin, acting secretary-treasurer of the league, said leniency was shown the violators because of extenuating circumstances. Coaches of the four teams said the games were not regular contests, in that the mentors were on the field at all times with the players, no timed periods were played, no admission was charged, no spectators were present, and no officials used.

Last spring the conference turned down a proposal that freshman games be permitted. That flurry provided the only fireworks at the annual session. One angle failed to materialize when a committee named by the coaches and athletic directors to study a plan for awarding football and basketball championships didn't get its work done in time to report to the faculty division. Championships have never been awarded in the two major sports.

PAUL WILCOX OF SHELBY NAMED ON ALL-BUCKEYE

Paul Wilcox of Shelby, Ohio U. end, was named to a post on the INS All-Buckeye conference eleven released today. The team: Wilcox, Ohio University, le; Niehaus, Dayton, lt; Bragg, Marshall, lg; Ellison, Miami, c; Wagner, Dayton, rg; Adamczyk, Ohio University, rt; Kessler, Miami, re; Montgomery, Ohio University, qb; Williams, Miami, lh; Elkins, Marshall, rh; Janiak, Ohio University, fb.

PATCH UP SORES

AKRON—(AP)—Football teams of Akron university and Kent State university will meet again in 1940 and 1941, Dr. Hezzleton E. Simmons, Akron U. president, said lats night. Athletic relations between the two schools were broken off in 1936 over a difference in eligibility standards.

BARONS FACE BEARS

CLEVELAND—(INS)—The Hershey Bears, leaders of the International-American Hockey league, meet the badly battered Cleveland Barons on the ice here tonight. The Barons were beaten in their last two games.

WINS ON TECHNICAL K. O.

DAYTON—(AP)—Joe Marinelli of Dayton won over Leo Ritenour of Akron here last night on a technical knockout in the 11th round of a 12-round boxing bout. Each weighed 126.

BELLVILLE TEAM DINES

Floyd Dent, Mansfield Boy Scout executive, will be the speaker at the Bellville high football banquet to be given the team by the Chamber of Commerce in Bellville Thursday.

HONEBERGER LEADS

TOLEDO—Nearing the end of their city championship bowling series, Leo Honeberger is leading Champion Norm Reighard by a margin of 642 pins.

CHAPTER 19

It occurred to him that he had perhaps made a fool of himself in the Davis cottage. Goodness, he couldn't afford to drift off in frothy details concerning women; he had cut himself out a scholastic career!

And yet, there was Miss Pomeroy. She was most powerful. Her trim, well-dressed figure, her dark hair and colorful features were etched deeply in Dr. Holgate's consciousness. He could not slough that off; in fact he did not want to.

He ambled on back toward the administration building, a somewhat badly confused young faculty man.

Old Man Walter Van Buren Pomeroy owns a mansion with eight bedrooms and eight acres on Houston's expensive Calumet drive. The eight bedrooms are quite enough to house his family, which consists of one overfed and adipose wife and one underfed and dissipated daughter.

The latter, however, is not without some physical charm. Youth can offset a deal of dissipation, for a while. Miss Geraldine danced too much, smoked too much, drank too much, and ate improperly, but her calves still had nice curves, and the best beauticians in Houston kept her face and hair in perpetual good front. When Geraldine happened to get two good nights sleep in succession, she could be downright beautiful. If, that is, her mood permitted her mouth corners to turn up.

This evening, though, she was short on sleep, and her rather large mouth drooped like that of a fish. (If this is inelegant, it is nevertheless accurate; the same phenomenon may be observed in other people.) Geraldine had not had a good day at Rice. A pop quiz in French literature 400 had left her helpless. English 410 had been spiced with questions which Dr. Montgomery had centered on her. And The Thresher, student weekly, had appeared with its Winchellian gossip column, including this:

"What erstwhile beauty page has been seen less and less of late with what handsome football star? Old songs, they say, are the best ones. Can the Merry Widow waltz be coming back into style?"

It was just plain enough to make people look at Geraldine and smile. One girl, a former rival, had chirped at her. "Oh, Pea-ches, they're picking on you, darling!" Peaches had pretended not to hear, which evoked a splash of laughter from at least a dozen boys and girls.

Peaches was sitting now in her room, glooming.

Definite point of the gloom was the freshman dance, set for tonight. Three men, including that new prof, Holgate, had asked to take her; but Bob Towne had not. Peaches was morally certain — hence furiously certain—that Bob would take that impossible Davis widow. Peaches herself had accepted a date with Charlie Bane, whom she did not like much, but who at least dressed well and danced smoothly, and who would match any pace she wanted to set.

Her deductions as to Bob Towne had been wrong, of course. A very young man, somewhat resembling a headlight on a train, so brightly did his happiness beam, came in with the widow Davis on his arm. He was Mr. Worthington Gurley, and it quickly became apparent that he had managed a social coup. Boys instantly began to hang around Sara Sue, and Peaches learned later that some spirited buying and selling of dances with her had been done, sub rosa.

The inevitagle stag line developed rather surprisingly, too. In it, for instance, was big Bob Towne, who openly admitted that Freshman Gurley had stolen his girl for the night. In it, too (at the insistance of Sara Sue Davis, Incorporated), was Thornton Holgate, Ph. D., minus his spectacles, wearing his newest suit and shoes, looking altogether nice except for a strained expression.

"Relax," Sara managed to whisper to him once. "Smile at people. Cut in on all the dances you can."

Because Charlie Bane kept slipping outside for a drink, leaving Peaches momentarily alone, she moved to greet the professor.

"Dr. Holgate, how are you?" she smiled at him. "So glad to see you here! Whom are you dating?"

"Why—ah—how do you do, Miss Pomeroy? Yes, indeed!" She had accosted him unexpectedly, from his side, which flustered him as much as her prettiness did. Peaches, who had good eyes, turned their power on him; Peaches always acted on the unspoken theory that every man was made for servitude.

"Who?" She asked again.

"Ah, yes. That is, I came alone. Just—ah—stagging, as we boys say."

That was quite a speech for him. He paused to swallow, then went manfully on, however.

"I wasn't sure that I could come at all, until the last minute. I hope I may have the pleasure of dancing some with you. You—ah—may I be so presumptuous as to say that you look charming this evening?" He bowed with that. Partly to cover the pink he felt darting up his neck.

"Thank you! Peaches smiled. She was in better humor now, with Bob Towne stagging.

Another man claimed her, then, and Dr. Holgate was content to look at her. Their brief contact had been most pleasurable. He felt that he could get up nerve enough to "cut in" on her for a bit of dancing later.

He was, however, by no means confident of his ability to dance well enough to please her. Obeying Sara Sue Davis, he had studied dancing with great care, had taken a number of private lessons, and was not quite so utterly lost when he had held a girl in his arms. But he had taken only the simplest steps. On one point, however, he did base a great deal of hope—he had learned to waltz reasonably well. The ONE-two-three, ONE-two-three of waltzing had come easily and pleasantly (as it has for many another man). It is relatively slow, is not necessarily cluttered up with tricky improvisations.

He wondered if he should ask Miss Pomeroy in advance for an opportunity to waltz with her. Then he remembered that this was a program dance. He had not even met her escort, and he felt that her program would be full anyway.

For want of something better to do—he could not force himself to be sociable with any of the other stags as yet—he spoke to some of the orchestra men.

"Will you have any waltzes?" he inquired of the leader.

"Hadn't thought," was the reply. "We'll work in a couple, if you think the crowd would like it."

"Oh. By all means. Yes, indeed!"

The enthusiasm was enough to convince the leader, so he arranged the program accordingly. "Third and eighth dances all right?" he aswed. Dr. Holgate thanked him.

The embarrassment of being alone drove him from the ballroom during the first dance. He thought she looked heavenly. At a distance, and through prejudiced eyes, she did.

She encountered him back on the floor—he had retreated near an artificial palm—in the second dance, and she remembered that he had asked to escort her here. That caused her to appraise him.

"He's not particularly handsome," she told herself, "but he's not bad, either."

She caught his eye and winked at him, as if in comradeship. She was whirled on in the dance, though, and could not know that she had set his heart pounding.

He did waltz with her, toward the end of Dance III.

He studied the collegians' technique of "cutting in" and imitated it very well. Moreover, he waltzed well enough to cause no comment, at least, although he was tense from actually holding Peaches in his arms for the first time. He was very conscious of her perfume now. Also, in this physical intimacy, he observed the heavy makeup that she wore; ordinarily he did not approve of exaggerated rouging and eyebrow doctoring and such, had often said it was a form of dishonesty. Now though, he could see nothing whatsoever to criticize.

She left him still glowing inwardly, after promising, at his brazen request, to dance all of Number VIII with him. "Paul Templeton has that one, but he can't waltz and he'll be drunk as a sailor by then, anyway," she informed him, rather surprisingly. "You can have all the waltz, Thornton."

A grand and glorious happiness therefore settled upon Dr. Holgate.

In the gay crowd he saw no more of her for a long while, nor did he try. He greeted a few other faculty folk, but mostly he stayed to himself. He was content to nurse the pleasures of anticipation. Also, he had to think of several items of conversation. He even took his tiny note pad out surreptitiously and jotted them down, to insure his remembering them when he should have Peaches to himself for an entire dance. He was determined to make the most of his opportunity.

Time from third to eighth dances, however, stretched into almost two hours. An unexpected floor show, with still more unexpected encores, added greatly to the evening's festivities, so that midnight had passed when the lights finally were dimmed again and the unmistakable rhythm of a waltz began.

All in an instant Dr. Holgate was frantic. The room was rather large and he could not find Peaches. He hurried into the adjoining lounge, though, and saw her at once, slumped on a divan.

"Ish Thornton," she told the boy beside her. "Shee 'im? Looking owl eyed at me, Paul. Shee? Ish he drunk too?"

OKAY
HURRY UP, THE TIDE'S GOIN' OUT!
SOON ALL ARE ABOARD SHIP BOUND FOR NEW ADVENTURES

PAM—On the Trail. By A. W. Brewerton

HE'S STILL IN THE TAXI! TRAILED HER CLEAR TO HER DOOR! —AND I THINK HE KNOWS I'M RIGHT WITH HIM, TOO!
RAWSON, THE F.B.I. MAN, IS ON THE JOB!
WONDER WHAT HE'S GOING TO DO?—BELIEVE I'LL TRY TO CALL THE OFFICE FOR ANOTHER MAN —ONE HE WON'T KNOW IS ON HIS TRAIL!—
HOLD EVERYTHING!—HE—YES—HE'S GETTING OUT OF THE TAXI—PAYING IT OFF, I THINK—YEP!
BUT THE OTHER MAN—
LISTEN, DRIVER, PULL AROUND THE CORNER—JUST OUT OF SIGHT—AND WAIT—I'LL BE WITH YOU IN A MINUTE—AND LEAVE YOUR MOTOR RUNNING!
OKAY, SIR!
WHAT IS GOING TO HAPPEN NOW?

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Volks! Volks! By Harold Gray

I TELL YOU THOSE BRUTES LOOK VICIOUS—WHAT IF THEY BITE SOMEBODY?
PSHAW! THEY ARE GENTLE AS LITTLE LAMBS!
YEAH! LIKE HOUNDS ON A HOT TRAIL—THE KIND OF DOGS THAT EJECT RAW MEAT AT THE END OF THAT TRAIL—
HA! HA! NO DOUBT THEY SCENT THE LITTLE HARE—HOW YOU SAY, THE RABBIT?
O.K.—MAYBE SO! BUT YOU GO CATCH THOSE BRUTES BEFORE THEY GET INTO TROUBLE—
PERHAPS YOU ARE RIGHT—COME—THEY ARE JUST BEYOND THAT ORCHARD—
RUN, FOOLS—FOLLOW ME! TOO MUCH TIME ALREADY HAS BEEN WASTED—THERE THEY GO—SEE? ALONG THAT RIDGE—THEY HAVE HER TRAIL—VERY SOON NOW—
HAROLD GRAY

THE NEBBS—The Sarcastic Mr. Slider. By Sol Hess

WELL, WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THAT, SLIDER, THERE'S MY FRIENDS, THE CONVERSERS. I TOOK A PICTURE OF THEM AND SENT IT TO THE POLICE AND THAT'S THE RESULT!
HOW DID YOU EVER HAPPEN TO SUSPECT THEM?
NOXAGE
12-10
WELL, WHEN MY BROTHER GAVE THIS CONFIDENTIAL INTERVIEW TO HELEN YOUNG, I KNEW IT WOULD BRING A LOT OF CROOKS DOWN HERE AND WHEN THE CONVERSERS STARTED TO FAWN OVER ME, I SAID, "OH-OH! WHAT'S THIS?"
NOXAGE
YOU KNOW, STEVE, NO ONE COULD EVER DOUBT FROM APPEARANCES THAT YOU AND RUDY WERE BROTHERS, BUT WHEN IT COMES TO INTELLIGENCE AND ALL-ROUND ABILITY THERE'S NO EVIDENCE OF RELATIONSHIP.. HE'S GOT A WILLING MOUTH—IT WOULD HAVE BEEN A FINE COMBINATION WITH YOUR BRAINS!

BRICK BRADFORD—In the Fortress of Fear. By William Ritt and Clarence Gray

BRICK DASHES SWIFTLY BUT NOISELESSLY ACROSS THE MOONLIT PRISON COURTYARD
PAUSES, TO CATCH HIS BREATH IN THE SHADOW OF THE PRISON WALL—
THE ROOF—AND NOT A GUARD IN SIGHT! THAT'S A REAL BREAK!

MICKEY MOUSE—Piper Aim to Find a Way Out! By Walt Disney

BEFORE I GO, LET ME SAY THAT I HARBOR NO ILL WILL!
THAT'S DARN DECENT OF Y', MR. PIPER! THANKS!
NOT AT ALL! YOU WERE ONLY DOING YOUR DUTY AS YOU SAW IT! IF YOU CARE TO VISIT THE PRISON SOMETIME—
—I SHALL BE GLAD TO SEE YOU!
SURE, MR. PIPER! I'LL COME!
GOOD! AND DON'T FORGET TO BRING THE TOOLS, SONNY!

TAILSPIN TOMMY—Lucky Shot! By Hal Forrest

ATTACKED BY THE SAME BLACK PIRATE PLANE THAT HAD SWOOPED UPON TOMMY, SKEETER, BETTY-LOU, JERRY AND HANK, IN THE BIG AMPHIBIAN, HAVE LITTLE HOPE OF ESCAPING ALIVE FROM THE HAIL OF MACHINE GUN BULLETS, AS SKEETS FRANTICALLY PUMPS AWAY WITH A DEER RIFLE AT A SIDE WINDOW..
BUT..SUDDENLY—
JEEPERS! I....I MUSTA HIT 'IM!
FOR LIMITED TIME ONLY! SEND LARGE, SELF-ADDRESSED, 3-CENT STAMPED ENVELOPE TO HAL FORREST, % THIS PAPER, FOR MODEL PLAN OF THE VOUGHT-SB2U-1 NAVY FIGHTER.
NO, YOU DIDN'T, SKEETER! LOOK! HE'S . . .
HE'S BAILED! MEBBE I JUST DISABLED HIS MOTOR!
WE'LL TRY AND PICK HIM UP! HANG ON, EVERYBODY!

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus

I TOLD YOUR FATHER TO ASK HIS BOSS TO GIVE MY BROTHER A JOB—I DON'T KNOW IF HIS BOSS KNOWS MY BROTHER—
WELL—IF HE DON'T THERE MAY BE A CHANCE OF HIM GETTING A JOB—
HERE COMES JIGGS—HE'S HOME EARLY TODAY—
WELL—I ASKED THE BOSS TO GIVE YOUR BROTHER A JOB—THAT'S WHY I'M HOME EARLY—
SO—YOU CAME HOME EARLY TO TELL ME THE NEWS—
THE BOSS DOCKED ME TWO DAYS' PAY FER BRINGIN' HIM IN THE SHOP—AND FIRED ME WHEN HE FOUND OUT I WAS RELATED TO HIM—WHAT?

THE GUMPS—Homeward Bound. By Gus Edson

WELL, ANDY, YOU OLD PETER PAN—THIS OUGHT TO TEACH YOU A LESSON NEVER TO PUT TOO MUCH TRUST IN EVERY TOM, DICK AND HARRY YOU MEET—
RIGHT, BIM, I WON'T EVEN TRUST MYSELF AFTER THIS TO THE CELL
YOU ARE THE LAST ONE I'D TRUST IF I WERE YOU! HURRY NOW—WE'VE JUST TIME TO CATCH THE TRAIN BACK TO BLOOMINGTON—
I CAN'T RETURN YET, BIM—LUCKY PICKENS EMBEZZLED MY $100,000—I'VE GOT TO STAY HERE AND ESTABLISH CLAIM TO IT—
DON'T WORRY, MY BOY—I'VE TAKEN CARE OF IT—WHEN THE POLICE NABBED LUCKY ON AN OLD CHARGE, THEY WERE SURPRISED TO FIND THE CASH ON HIS PERSON—YOU ARE SIMPLY REQUIRED TO SEND THE CANCELLED CHECK TO THEM TO PROVE YOUR CLAIM—
ER-BIM—JUST ONE THING—IF YOU DON'T MIND—I'D APPRECIATE IT IF YOU DIDN'T TELL MIN ABOUT THIS ER-LITTLE MATTER—YOU KNOW HOW WOMEN ARE—

LI'L ABNER—Very Strange Gal! By Al CAPP

DAWGONE!—AH 'TOLE HIM AH COME T' SAVE HER FUM TH' MISERY O' THIS SASSIETY LIFE BUT HE KEP' AXIN' ME EF AH HAD A IN-VEE-TAY-SHUN!! SECH IGGORANCE!!

MODEST RALLY SHAVES RECENT MARKET LOSSES

Drying Up of Tax Selling Attracts Traders To Buying Side.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Stocks dug in for a modest rally today with market leaders retrieving fractions to a point or so of recent losses.

Activity picked up a bit on the come-back, although the pace never inconvenienced the ticker tape. Transfers were around 450,000 shares for the two hours.

There was little change in the business picture, which continued moderately cheerful for the long term, but foreign tension seemed to have lessened a bit as a market brake and the notable drying up of tax selling in the past several sessions was thought to have attracted some traders to the buying side. Bonds were selectively higher to the buying side.

Among stocks on the rising side were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, American Can, DuPont, U. S. Gypsum, General American Transportation, Paramount, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, North American, Trans-America and U. S. Rubber.

National Supply, weak yesterday on dividend cuts, chipped down an early loss of 2 points.

Steels had to contend with forecasts of another slip-up in mill operations next week, but a decline would not be surprising to the financial district in view of slackening specifications prompted by inventory periods as the year ends.

Light offerings kept Reed Roller Bit, Electric Bond and Share, Raymond Concrete Pile and Cities Service in the background in the curb. Colts Patent Fire Arms ran up more than 4.

School Board Awards For New Junior High Building Go To Low Bidders.

ing $5,995 less, and the electrical wiring, $3,897 more.

The difference of $64,618 between the $450,000 allocated for the Johnny Appleseed building and the amount of the four construction contracts will provide for classroom equipment and architects' fees, board members said. The architects receive 6 per cent of the total cost of the construction.

Bids on the general construction ranged from the winning figure, $293,130, to $366,519, submitted by the Jacob Wolfe company, Mansfield. Others included:

Indiana Engineering and Construction company, Akron, $294,887; James I. Barns company, Springfield, $293,700; George H. Whike company, Canton, $298,640; Melbourne Brothers company, Canton, $299,633; Weinstein Construction company, Akron, $302,400; Skilkin Brothers, Columbus, $303,400; Robert T. Setterlin and Son, Columbus, $303,776; National Concrete and Fireproofing company, Cleveland, $305,900; Charles Shutrump and Sons, Youngstown, $309,150; Norton and Nadalin, Columbus, $312,700; Simon Small and Sons company, Mansfield, $325,603.

PWA specifications require that the contractor first employ all the men he can obtain from the lists of the Mansfield office of the National Reemployment administration. He is not permitted to discriminate between union and non-union workers.

Architects estimated that nearly 200 men would be given jobs on the project when it is at its peak, probably early next spring. Employment of skilled workers which cannot be obtained through the re-employment office is at the discretion of the contractor.

After awarding the contracts, the board last night passed a resolution requesting $112,500 of the $450,000 PWA allocation to finance the start of the $1,000,000 school program. The money was set aside several weeks ago, but it will be distributed to the board as it is needed.

The Johnny Appleseed school will be the first major unit of the program, which includes two new junior high buildings, a shop addition at Senior high school, and remodeling of eight elementary buildings. The shop addition is nearing completion, and contracts will be awarded next Friday for the elementary school repairs.

and sometimes picked them up in the afternoon.

On some occasions, the girl's statement related, girls of high school age had gone to places where liquor and beer are dispensed and had been met there by their men friends. Two of the places in question, according to Copper, are in Mansfield. The third is outside the city limits.

Judge Anderson said he had heard Copper's investigation had developed new disclosures, but had not yet seen the statement given to Copper by the girl.

Copper said he would make further investigation and planned to take the girl who gave him the statement before Anderson next week, when he will also present her statement. He indicated that some of the men she named would also be questioned and perhaps taken into probate court.

however, when the sales tax amounted to $40,828.

Postal receipts also showed a marked increase. November figures were $38,810, 16 per cent better than October's $32,981, and 39 per cent better than the $23,380 of last November. Postal receipts have climbed sharply in the last three months, the C. of C. figures show.

Mercantile and industrial employment both showed gains, the former of 3.53 per cent over October and of 15 per cent over the preceding November. Mercantile employment last month was 1,760, for October 1,700 and for November of 1937 was 1,381.

Industrial employment went up .91 per cent from 8,125 in October to 8,200 in November. It was still 17 per cent behind November of 1937, however, when 9,980 were employed in the county's industrial plants.

Bus fares showed an increase of 3.27 over October, 139,516 to 134,953.

Bank clearings, the only classification to drop, were $6,445,904 for November and $6,716,661 in October, a decline of 4 per cent.

seeking to allay any fears among latin American delegates that the United States is courting trouble with European or Asiatic powers, and that Latin America might be involved.

They are making it known also that the United States disclaims any ambition for economic dominance of the western hemisphere.

A. A. Berle, jr., assistant secretary of state, said emphatically in a radio speech last night that the United States had no intention of seeking military alliances of any sort at this conference.

"It is said by some that military alliances will be sought," Berle said. "Of course this is a rumor only and is obviously out of the question . . . certainly the United States has never thought of proposing a military alliance.

"It is perfectly plain that the American continent does not feel that a system of military alliances is needed to protect it, and on that, I think, everyone agrees."

Berle also denied European insinuations that the United States sought economic dominance over the American continent.

Cuba brought German Nazi treatment of Jews into the conference orbit for the first time when the Cuban delegation made public a resolution, to be proposed to the conference, condemning "persecutions of a collective character," based on racial or religious grounds, which resulted in conditions that made it impossible for persecuted elements to live. The resolution did not name Germany specifically. It was understood that several nations already had assured the Cubans of support for the resolution.

Latin American sources asserted that United States delegates had advanced informally, in talks with other delegates, suggestions for a binding agreement among American nations to repel not only an aggression by a foreign nation but any attempt to implant a foreign political ideology in conflict with the American political system.

somewhere and that they'll have to pay for the show after they get to the dance.

No such thing. After you hand in your ticket at the door, that's all there is, and the place is yours. Flowers and candy will be sold on the floor during the evening, but you don't have to buy 'em—unless you can't resist a pretty girl in an evening dress with a tray full of roses or candy bars.

The midnight revue, headed by Jane Wilson of the Fred Waring show and Ray and Trent, of the "big time" theaters and night clubs, will be staged on the dance floor immediately in front of the orchestra stand. The space will be roped off to keep the floor free of wax for the chorus numbers.

And while the plans for the dance and the show were swinging along the first big contribution of canned goods came from the Ohio theater today where the first of three "can matinees" was held. More than 500 cans of fruits, vegetables and jelly were contributed by the youngsters who attended the free show.

Two other matinees will be given next Saturday morning for canned goods, one at the Ritz and the other at the park theater.

gers at Holgate and continued the eastward trip. The train reached Willard at 11:10 a. m., seven hours late.

In addition to Mr. and Mrs. Shaughnessy and Hughes, L. W. Delong of Willard, a baggageman, was on the derailed train. He suffered bruises, as did Hughes.

R. M. Shaw, who drove the ambulance to the wreck reported some of the coaches plunged deep into mud at the base of embankments.

"The steel cars sank almost five feet in the mud and many passengers were helped out through windows," Shaw said.

Nearly all passengers were taken to Deshler, about 25 miles east of here, and there boarded another east-bound train, Shaw said.

At Akron, division superintendent W. C. Baker said the cause of the derailment had not been determined. A spokesman said main line traffic was being rerouted.

and balanced" reports of the Japanese invasion of China.

He said the American correspondents should be congratulated on the fine job they have been doing, and complimented the American Red Cross for the work it has done and is still doing caring for refugees.

"At the present time more than 200,000 refugees are being cared for in Shanghai alone," Breuer said. "At one time that figure stood at a half million.

"Shanghai is very much intact, although there is the constant threat of exploding bombs dropped from Jap planes."

He told of two that were dropped in the city on two different occasions. One killed 2,500 persons and wounded 3,000, while the other fell on a department store in the business district, killing 500 and wounding 800.

* * *

Breuer, who speaks four different languages, including Chinese, has a peculiar accent all of his own. It has a tinge of German, a bit of the Chinese singsong and when he finds himself unable to express himself readily in English, he substitutes a French phrase in order to get his meaning across.

He pointed out that Shanghai, a city of 3,000,000, did not have tall buildings as was seen in the larger U. S. cities because it was built on a swamp along the Yangtze river.

Half of the cost of construction of the buildings there, he said, went into the foundation. Some have piles driven into the ground 100 to 150 feet.

The importer was amazed at the efficiency in the offices, pointing to the various machines that the office force was using.

"We don't have all that," he said, "nor all those beautiful girls either. We have coolies and most all office work is done by hand. It slows up the process a great deal."

Breuer explained that the Chinese alphabet was quite simple to learn because it was made up of characters which signified some times a whole phrase or sentence.

Chinese have nicknames for everyone. Breuer's is "Distinguished Gentleman" and it's on his card in Chinese in the familiar Far East characters.

"But the the boys in my office have another one for me which they do not know that I know about," he said smilingly. "It's the 'Old Tiger'."

Breuer will leave New York about Dec. 20 and will arrive back in Shanghai around Feb. 1. He is going by the way of England, Germany and back through Russia.

"It has been a most delightful experience and among other things I have been greatly impressed with the cordiality and sincerity of the American business man, and if you should ever get to China, be sure and look me up."

Mexico-Nazi 'Trade Alliance' Draws Concern In U. S. Capital

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Reports that Mexico is entering closer economy relations with Germany presented President Roosevelt today with a potential test of his continental solidarity program.

The reports were that Mexico has entered an oil-for-manufactured goods barter agreement with Germany under which she would sell about $17,000,000 worth of petroleum in exchange for German manufactures. The oil involved reportedly was expropriated by the Mexican government from American and British last spring.

The state department was unable to confirm the report but expressed "deep interest." One official said that confirmation of it might be regarded as the beginning of a move by the totalitarian powers to gaain freer access to Mexico's rich supply of materials —especially minerals and petroleum—in which the dictator-military states are deficient.

The state department emphasized that the United States was not concerned officially with Mexico's disposition of oil or other resources to which she has legal title. However, it was said, this government is "greatly concerned" over disposition of properties and materials that have been expropriated but for which no compensation has been received.

It was learned officially that the United States, in proposed future negotiations with Mexico, will seek a solution of the oil expropriation question along the lines of the recently completed Agrarian settlement. Under the latter, a representative of each nation was appointed to adjudicate claims, and Mexico agreed to pay not less than $1,000,000 annually until payment has been made in full.

Daladier Wins Test Of Strength In French Chamber

STRIKE STAND, 'NO WAR' PACT GET APPROVAL

Policies Endorsed 315 to 241 After Riotous, Fist-Swinging Chamber Session.

(By International News Service)

PARIS—Premier Edouard Daladier emerged with a new, hard-won political victory today when the chamber of deputies climaxed a riotous session by voting 315 to 241 in favor of his domestic and foreign policies.

The vote constituted an endorsement of the chamber's confidence in Daladier's program for national recovery, his stern measures to break the one-day general strike and the maritime strike, and his program for aiding European appeasement as represented by the Franco-German "no war" agreement.

A chamber majority of 74 prolonged the existence of the Daladier regime. Fifty-three deputies, mostly dissident socialists, radical socialists and extreme rightists, obstained from voting.

Outcome of the vote fortified the strength of Europe's new four-power peace accord reached at Munich.

10-Minute Uproar.

Daladier's victory, however, was not won without a struggle, and at one time the chamber was plunged into an outbreak of fist-fighting that caused a 10-minute suspension before hard-working sergeants could restore order.

The premier opened the debate by demanding an immediate "yes" or "no" on his policies and accusing the French communist party of fomenting an "insurrectionary strike" aimed at overthrowing the government.

Before the vote was taken the chamber rang with noisy recriminations and insults and finally physical violence boiled up as Leon Blum, former premier and leader of the socialist party, defended the strike movement against Daladier's decree laws.

Blum launched into an explanation of his views of how the war veterans felt about this question. In a moment rightist veterans in the chamber rose and challenged his words. Leftist veterans jumped to their feet, and before Blum could make himself heard fights were raging in all sections of the chamber.

Asserting France was "violently sick" and needed strong remedies, Daladier declared:

"I want peace with Germany . . . there can be no peace beyond our frontiers without peace at home. It is to maintain order in the republic that I shall continue to do what I already have done without being distracted by anyone."

Name Film Stars On 'Sucker List' Of Bond Scheme

NEW YORK—(INS)—Nine Hollywood film stars—the golden fleece, according to the government, of the $1,000,000 Philippine bond fraud—were summoned by federal subpoena to New York today to testify in the case against William P. Buckner, jr., wealthy insurance family scion.

In issuing the summonses federal authorities intimated the film luminaries, as well as an executive, a Hollywood night club owner and two scenarists, comprised a glittering "sucker list" victimized in the market-rigging bond scheme.

Representing more than a million dollars in talent, the stars ordered to come to New York at their earliest convenience, are:

Miriam Hopkins, Ronald Colman, Binnie Barnes, Frank Morgan, Cary Grant, Phyllis Brooke, Bing Crosby, Herbert Marshall and Leon Errol.

A subpoena was also delivered to Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of United Artists; Nolan Hahn, owner of the Clover club in Hollywood, and two writers, Jean Mogileski and Nick Carter.

FEE ON HOTEL CHECKS

NEW ORLEANS—(U.P.)—Hotels in New Orleans have started charging fees for cashing guests' checks, but contend they'll still not "break even." Managers estimated that fees charged by the banks for depositing checks cost the hotels in the city between $10,000 and $12,000 a year.

V. H. Lodde admits that Christmas shoppers might have a little trouble getting downtown to the stores in the morning but he's sure it would be worth the effort. A survey his Retail Merchants' association has just conducted shows that 75 per cent of all shopping is done after 11:30 a. m., and points out that a Christmas shopper who does his buying before 11:30 will get better service, a wider range of selection and generally better results. Clerks have more time to be helpful in the morning, he says, ending his observation with the remark that there are only 12 shopping days left.

AGENTS CHECK ASSETS LISTED BY DRUG FIRM

Three-Way Inquiry Underway In Affairs of McKesson and Robbins Company.

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — With law enforcement agencies of the federal and local governments also active, State Attorney General John J. Bennett, jr., today led a small army of investigators seeking to solve the apparent evaporation of $10,000,000 in assets of McKesson & Robbins, Inc.

While F. Donald Coster, president of the concern, reportedly was too ill at his Fairfield, Conn., home to discuss the case, executives of Price, Waterhouse & Co., auditors for the firm, were called to Bennett's office for questioning.

On other fronts, the efforts to pry into the tangled financial set-up pushed forward, with the U. S. Attorney's office moving to carry out Attorney General Cummings' order for an immediate grand jury inquiry.

Question Executives.

Agents of the treasury department also secretly questioned executives of the drug company to determine if there had been violation of the federal narcotics laws through engagement of an illicit drug and alcohol business.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey's office, the Securities and Exchange commission and the stock exchange were all pressing their own efforts to fix responsibility.

Officers of Price, Waterhouse & Co. were directed to appear in the Bennett inquiry, with all records of the audits of the crude drug department of McKesson & Robbins, whose $17,000,000 in "assets" hold the key to the mystery. Bennett also sought from the stock exchange listings of applications for the drug firm's stock over the last four years.

The securities of the drug company, whose total assets aggregate over $80,000,000, continued to zig-zag vigorously in the New York over-the-counter market as the various probes were pressed.

Not That It Matters

Comment on the Tragedy of an Erring Son and Courage of a Governor

—By JANE WILLIAMS

AS DRAMATIC and tragic as the climax scene in "Ten Nights In a Barroom" is the story of the minister's son who killed his father while in a drunken stupor.

His statement after the patricide, a complete story in 36 words, symbolizes one of the oldest dramas in the world—the struggle of a God-fearing, strait-laced father to save the soul and body of a wastrel son.

"This is the end of a perfect life," the boy said of himself, "Search my story from end to end and you can find no good in it. My father was the original prohibitionist and I made a career of drinking."

Psychologists may find a reason for the tragedy in that last sentence. But on the other hand there is this fact to consider: there are more drinking "careers" started in homes where fathers have set the example than there are in homes where alcohol is held up as a "curse," and sternly forbidden.

ONLY the unthinking will say of this tragedy: "Just another minister's son gone wrong." As a matter of actual statistics, the percentage of ministers' sons who go wrong is very small. But when one does, he is always pounced on and held up as a Glaring Example.

THIS column has often enough expressed its unflattering opinion of Governor Martin L. Davey, so that it is with something of alacrity that we hasten to point to his courage in handling the Anna Hahn case. It really took courage of the highest type to make the decision he did. Because it would have been so very easy to have given the woman another stay of execution and thus dumped the whole thing in the lap of John Bricker, who succeeds Davey as governor; or to have commuted her sentence to life imprisonment and let the howls of indignation fall where they would.

Your correspondent is one of the brighter gals who never says (publicly) "men are idiots," but I was terribly tempted when I read the sickeningly sentimental gush of men who were shocked and horrified by the Hahn electrocution because she was a woman. One newly-elected lawmaker in Cleveland was so wrought up that he announced he'll propose a bill to abolish the electric chair. "There is something helpless about a woman that makes the execution more horrible," he blurbed.

Woman helpless? Yah, look at us, from the time Salome refused to go into her dance until someone brought her the head of John on a silver tray, right down through the Borgias and de Medicis to Anna Hahn who poisoned old men, watched and mocked their death agonies—aren't we a helpless, fragile lot?

AS a matter of fact we women are rapidly becoming the sterner sex and men are going soft. I mean it. We women weren't satisfied to stay in the kitchen and let the mister do the thinking for the family.

So we yelled for Equality. We got it. We wanted Careers; we wanted to be lawyers, doctors business women, newspaper women, aviators, scientists, and because we have the intelligence and the strength to be all of these things, we made the grade. We wanted to be Individuals, to live our own lives.

All right. We got everything we asked for. We are men's Equals. And when one of us is called upon to take a man's punishment, it makes me, for one, perfectly furious to have men wail like ninnies about woman's "helplessness," and try to beg off for us.

We fought for Equality—now we'll take it straight.

SAW a re-issued print of "Hell's Angels" the other night, and was once more impressed with the fact that while technical and mechanical phases of motion pictures have improved immeasurably, the "spark" or whatever it is that gives life to celluloid drama, is missing these days, or captured only rarely.

The aviation sequences of "Hell's Angels" have never been equalled and there was a lusty vitality to the characters that is not found in today's sometimes-anemic shadow people. But perhaps the censors are more to blame for this than the industry.

FILE APPEALS IN LIABILITY SUIT

7 Defendants Fight Action Freeing Insurance Firm In Traffic Deaths.

Counsel for seven defendants in an automobile insurance liability suit today had filed an appeal with the Fifth district court of appeals from a decision handed down Nov. 18 in Richland county common pleas court.

The case, won by the Mercer Casualty company of Celina, O., the plaintiff, on a directed verdict, freed the insurance firm of liability for damages up to $50,000 resulting from a traffic accident in Jefferson county in which five persons were killed.

In their appeal, the defense attorneys contend Judge C. H. Huston erred in upholding a motion for a directed verdict for the plaintiff following a jury trial here. The jurors signed the verdict.

The insurance firm won the verdict on the grounds that the driver who allegedly was responsible for the fatal accident was operating a car without the owner's consent and that the owner misrepresented his occupation to the insurance company when he applied for insurance.

Damage suits totaling $375,000 are pending in Jefferson county common pleas court as a result of the crash. They are against Russell Plunkett, driver of one of the cars, who is serving a term in the Mansfield reformatory for manslaughter.

FORM COUNCIL

County Business Men to Set Up Advisory Group.

A meeting of approximately 60 Richland county businessmen will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday for the purpose of organizing the Richland County Advisory council, Paul W. Williams, secretary-manager of the chamber, said today.

4,000 PACK HALL AS NEW YORK PROTESTS FOREIGN OPPRESSION

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia's citizens' rally against oppression packed Carnegie hall with 4,000 persons last night and kept 7,000 others standing outside.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace; William E. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany; Sen. Theodore F. Green, D., R. I., and Rev. Elton J. Sheen, theology professor at Catholic university, Washington, D. C., were among the speakers who denounced anti-Semitism and anti-Christianity in Europe as well as in America.

The mayor, presiding, explained that the meeting was to "express sorrow and sympathy with the victims of oppression in Central Europe." Fifty detectives were conspicuous inside the hall. The mayor had received a letter two days before threatening his life for his attacks on Nazis.

"It is difficult to understand. It is not only a new form of government gone mad; it is not a political riot; it is not an economic revolution. The world today is protesting against a mental disease," the mayor said in speaking of world conditions today

Dodd said that "if democracies, who can still save world civilization, are one able to co-operate in economic affairs and toward the realization of a democratic ideal, they can offer solid fronts to Hitler and Mussolini in Europe and Japan in the east."

Secretary Wallace pleaded that the United States remain a haven for persons of all races and creeds.

SEEKS FUNDS

Finance Committee Hunts Cash For Sewer Survey.

Council's finance committee, when it meets late this month to draft the 1939 appropriations bill will consider an appropriations for conducting a comprehensive survey of Mansfield sewers as demanded by the state department of health.

This was learned today from Mayor Claude M. Hunter who said that he had requested the committee to "seriously" consider the matter when the appropriations bill is drafted.

The state health department has refused to approve any improvements in the Mansfield sewer systems until some definite action has been taken towards arranging for the survey.

Members of the finance committee said that they had been unable to find $500 necessary to start the survey this year. They expect to consider appropriations to begin the survey which it has been estimated will cost upwards to $12,000

OPENS DEC. 16

District Unemployment Office Here to Have 6 Employes.

The opening of a district office here on Dec. 16 was announced today by the Ohio Unemployment Compensation commisison.

At the same time the commission said that 16 persons would be named to the office staff.

W. T. Roberts, labor member of the commission, said that branch managers will finish a training course on Dec. 16 and will begin the organizations of their offices at once.

Maurice K. Wells, former Mansfield school teacher, now employed by the state in Columbus, was named last week to manage the office which will be set up at 50 North Diamond street in the building formerly occupied by the Foltz Hardware company.

All appointments to the staff, including the manager, are to be made from eligibility lists compiled by the state civil service commisison from applicants who took examinations last month.

BECK RE-NAMED

Albert Beck was re-elected past consul of Courtney Camp No. 3505, Modern Woodmen of America, at a meeting last night at the Eagles hall.

Other officers chosen for the coming year are Charles Brissel, consul; David McDonough, advisor; Ray Laughman, banker; Roy Ernsberger, escort; Mrs. Doris Heldenbrand, watchman, and A. J. Haire, J. W. Bell and Glen Hisey, trustees.

Ickes to Face Difficult Handicaps If He Runs for Job of Mayor In Chicago

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON—There is no doubt that Harold Ickes, the Sudeten Chicagoan from the estranged province of Winnetka, has been yearning for anschluss with his old home town in the role of mayor and political redeemer. There are several difficulties, however.

For one, Winnetka, although a province of that projected racial empire of the Chicago Tribune's called Chicagoland, is not legally a part of Chicago. The Tribune's drang nach everywhere would enfold Winnetka and bless it with the peculiar form and type of government for which Chicago, under the Tribune, has been noted.

But up to now the empire is only a dream of Colonel Robert R. McCormick, who believes that the inhabitants of the area are, with few exceptions, Chicagoans in the racial sense and bombards them with his radio station and his editorials as Hitler bombarded the Austrians and the Sudetens.

* * *

So, as a resident of Winnetka, Mr. Ickes plainly is ineligible for office in Chicago. It has been suggested that a court decision might be obtained to make him eligible, or it could be decided simply to overlook this little detail.

In some communities such a suspension of the law might be viewed with alarm, but Chicago rarely pays any attention to laws.

The campaign probably would be highly acrimonious, for the Tribune long has referred to the house dick of the New Deal as "Honest Harold"—a foul aspersion in Chicago politics and a serious handicap, no doubt.

The Tribune has been calling Mr. Ickes "Honest Harold" in the most vindictive way, and his friends regard this as dirty pool and a mere intimation of the mud-slinging that might develop. It is their contention that if a man is otherwise qualified to serve as mayor of Chicago the mere fact of his being honest should not be held against him. He might make a good mayor, anyway.

Had he known, 20 or 30 years ago, that he might one day run for mayor, Mr. Ickes might have had the political foresight to get himself indicted for stealing parkway or other public funds or for evasion of his income tax on the stolen money.

Mr. Ickes himself has not yet made up his mind. He has a large job here as secretary of the interior and access to the naval hospital, in which to take a rest cure when he needs one at $3.75 a day.

Yet the job of mayor of Chicago, in the present state of Chicago's affairs, is reckoned to be second only to the presidency of the United States, and friends of Mr. Ickes believe they could fix up a bunk and a gas jet in the mayor's office so that he could save room rent and whip up scrambled eggs for himself, perhaps for even less than $3.75 a day

This may prove to be the final enticement, for Mr. Ickes is a man of frugal nature—another fault which might be held against him as a candidate for mayor. The added and easily provable accusation of thrift seems almost too much.

Mr. Ickes was a newspaper reporter in Chicago 40 years ago and lived there through many mayoral administrations, including that high point in Chicago's civic pride, the reign of Fred A. Busse, which is a story by itself. Rather oddly, this and similar—though slightly less glorious—eras in Chicago's history have struck apathy into the souls of the auslanders along the path of the Tribune's drang nach everywhere.

But the people of the actual city, the great, proud heart of Chicagoland, take mighty pride in their past as well as in their illustrious present. To such an electorate comes a man openly charged with honesty and economical habits whose best friend can't offer a word of refutation or excuse.

ALL-STAR CHOIR OF 100 VOICES GIVES ORATORIO

'Messiah' to Be Presented at First Lutheran Church Sunday Evening.

The ninth annual presentation in Mansfield of Handel's "Messiah," the Christmas oratorio portraying the life of Christ in music, will be presented at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in the First Lutheran church by a chorus of 100 voices.

The chorus will be made up of directors, soloists and members of nearly every church choir in Mansfield in addition to one Shelby church, and will be under the direction of Mrs. Claude F. Ewing, director of the Central Methodist choir.

The "Messiah" will be presented in three parts: 1, "Prophecy;" 2, "Nativity," and 3, "Death and Resurrection."

Six Have Solo Roles.

Solo numbers in the oratorio will be sung by six Mansfield and Shelby singers. The chorus will be accompanied at the organ by Miss Elizabeth Burneson, organist at the Central Methodist church.

Soloists and the numbers they will sing are: Miss Jane Weuthrich, soprano, of the First Presbyterian church, "There Were Shepherds;" Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine, soprano, First Congregational church, "Rejoice Greatly," and "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth;" Miss Miriam Culler, contralto, First Lutheran church, "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings."

Mrs. C. O. Anglin, contralto, and choir director at the First Presbyterian church, "He Shall Feed His Flock;" Arthur L. Boyce, choir director at the First Church of Christ, Shelby, "But Who May Abide the Day of His Coming?" and L. A. Cook, choir director at the First Lutheran church, "Comfort Ye and Every Valley."

The final rehearsal of the chorus will be held at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at the Lutheran church.

PUPILS DEBATE

2 Shelby High Teams to Take Part In Forum Meeting.

A debate by two teams from Shelby high school will feature the weekly meeting of the Community Chrisian Youth Forum at 6:30 p. m. Sunday at the First Congregational church.

The question to be debated will be, "Resolved, That the United States Should Form an Alliance With Great Britain." Students taking part will be Sally Van-Horn and Eleanor Wentz, affirmative, and Raymond Zeiters and William Daugherty, negative. C. M. Schindler, instructor of public speaking at Shelby high school, is in charge of the teams.

The Shelby groups have debated with teams from Fremont Ross, Lima Central, Marion, Washington Court House, Youngstown Cheney, West Salem, Xenia and Columbus North high schools.

The worship service will be conducted by Mary Maxwell, Mary Ann Ferguson, Maxine Williams and Henry Sanford, forum chairman, will preside during the business session. The forum cabinet meets at 5 p. m. at the Congregational church.

SERMON TOPIC

'God the Preserver of Man' to Be Scientist Lesson Sunday.

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "Withhold not thou thy tender mercies from me, O Lord: let thy lovingkindness and thy truth continually preserve me" (Psalms 40:11).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the Lord giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding . . . He keepeth the paths of judgment, and preserveth the way of his saints" (Proverbs 2:6, 8).

GALION—Mrs. Fred C. Miller underwent a major operation Thursday night at the Grant hospital, Columbus.

CO-OPERATION

We are always ready to co-operate fully with clergymen and fraternal orders in planning the details of the funeral service. We are familiar with the various rituals and always place ourselves at the disposal of those planning this feature of the services. Our relations with the clergymen of this community have always been most cordial, and we take this means of expressing our appreciation of their friendship and co-operation.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1938.

Drive carefully tomorrow—help reduce the December traffic toll.

Believe it or not, "When did the 19th century start?", was a subject for argument during a local quiz program a day or so ago.

According to a recent survey, "family buying power is now running 75 million dollars a month higher than last summer"—and this is a fine time to keep it running.

Housing Fund Hits Bottom.

WHATEVER regret may be felt over Mansfield's apparent failure to be cut in on federal housing project funds is somewhat tempered by realization that this whole thing constituted merely one phase of the wild orgy of government spending that has been going on for the past several years, but which there is now some hopes of ending.

To be sure, Mansfield has been fully justified in making every effort to get its share of this federal bounty—knowing that local taxpayers will be penalized to pay for wasteful expenditure of public funds in other parts of the country.

At the November election, however, a majority of Ohio voters declared very definitely against the New Deal, as it is being administered. Much of the New Deal popularity, in its early stages, rested on pump-priming and spending experiments which cost many billions of dollars without accomplishing their primary purposes of materially reducing unemployment and restoring sound prosperity.

Recent tests of public sentiment over the country have shown a substantial majority against federal spending policies, except in the voting group dependent on relief.

While there has been, and will continue to be, legitimate fields for expenditure of federal funds in public work, it may be doubtful if there will ever be sufficient surplus of national wealth to permit all cities and towns to carry through ambitious local improvement plans by drawing on Washington for the required money.

Real pressure, from now on, should be on finding ways to reduce extravagant public spending, rather than abetting it.

One-Light Drivers.

AS a part of traffic safety efforts, some Ohio cities have started enforcement of the requirement that automobiles shall be properly lighted for night driving—which means TWO headlights and at least one tail-light.

Custom, where this requirement is to be enforced, is to start with a warning to "one-eyed drivers" to report at police headquarters the following day with burned-out bulbs replaced. After a few days of warning period offenders are given traffic violation tickets and fined.

Thus far there has been no apparent effort in Mansfield or vicinity to discourage one-light driving, which is so common hereabouts as to occasion little comment—except to make a game of guessing how many of the next dozen cars will have only one headlight.

After finding that 199 traffic accidents in Toledo this year involved motorists driving with improper lights, that city started enforcement of the state law against one-light driving. It is at least interesting to know that there is such a law.

More Talk of One Six-Year Term.

ONCE again there is talk of submitting a constitutional amendment to limit the office of president of the United States to one six-year term.

This subject is usually brought up when there is appearance of a third term movement in behalf of an incumbent president.

There are apparently good arguments on both sides of the six-year one-term idea, with the reduced opportunity to build up an elaborate political machine probably the strongest in public appeal.

Any chance of electing a president to a third term now seems too remote to be disturbing.

There is at least a likelihood that at some future time the limit of one six-year term for president will be adopted—but party politics is still too strong a factor in public affairs to make such a change appear imminent.

Ashamed of Persecution.

SPEAKING of the plight of the Jews in Germany, Samuel H. Handelman, who has been active in the American League for Peace and Democracy says:

"Hitler's treatment of Jews in Germany is an organized, brutal, barbaric persecution. I was in Germany not long ago, and talked with many persons in Berlin and several of the smaller cities. Most of them are heartily ashamed of Hitler's attitude toward the Jews."

This may be true, though difficult to believe in view of the widespread cruelties practiced lately in nearly all parts of the country. The decent, normal people who presumably make up a majority of the population must be very thoroughly cowed if, resenting the recent excesses, they say and do nothing about it. Surely something could be done to curb the governing group which is shaming them all and imperilling, more and more, their present and future relations with the rest of the world.

Archeology Given Setback.

ARCHEOLOGISTS have been making remarkable progress in Palestine in recent years. They have unearthed much valuable evidence of the life of Biblical times.

At Lachish, for example, important writings on potsherds have been found, actual records from the period of Jeremiah. Farther south an expedition has unearthed churches containing the first documents on papyrus ever found in Palestine. French scientists in another section have been learning many facts about the campaigns of Joshua. Another group last year found a copper smelting plant at the site of King Solomon's seaport at the head of the Red Sea and hoped to dig into other important ruins during the coming year.

Today much of this research is endangered by the war in Palestine. Most of the expeditions are abandoning all further work for the present.

War is an all-round destroyer. It hampers our efforts to understand the past while it endangers the future and disrupts constructive contemporary effort.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—At times the ways of diplomacy are as clear as crystal if the right light is turned on them, and that is the case with the outbursts of Italian demands for certain parts of French territory.

No Italian in his right mind expects to get Tunisia, which is a very rich piece of French Africa bordering on the Mediterranean. Nor does the right-minded Italian expect to get the Mediterranean island of Corsica or Savoy on the Italian border. But competent opinion here is that the shrewd Italians who staged all this monkey business do expect to get Djibouti.

Your memory has to be two years long if you remember Djibouti. It is the little mud-flat city on the east coast of Africa washed by the Red sea. It is the entry port for Ethiopia. Italy wants it because it needs a port of outlet and inlet for Ethiopia.

Most of the shouting, it is true, has been for Tunisia, Corsica and Savoy. But the ruse of shouting for one thing while wanting another is as old as the hills and works as well as more complicated maneuvers. Djibouti is an extremely important strategic point for Italy in developing Ethiopia.

England May Be Generous.

HOWEVER, its location is also important in England's empire considerations. But England always has evidenced a disposition to give away territory belonging to other nations. She might let France give up Djibouti even though it gives the Italians a dangerous outpost on the British-empire life line through the Mediterranean and Red sea.

There is historical background for Italy's demands. France got Savoy from an Italian principality before Italy had become a unified nation. She got Corsica in much the same way, and she seized Tunisia, although Italy long had coveted it. So long have they been parts of France that they now are almost as French as Paris.

England would not be too pleased if Djibouti were to be surrendered to Italy to keep the peace. It is right opposite the British outpost of Aden, on the Arabian coast. With a friendly France in possession Djibouti, the two outposts facing each other across a narrow neck of Red sea complemented each other. With Italy in possession of Djibouti, Aden will be a nonentity. Of course its importance has been much lessened these days by long range airplanes. Operating from an Ethiopian base, Italy can close the Red sea passage at will.

Used German Strategy.

INCIDENTALLY, it is noticeable that Italy copied Germany in selecting the time for the big move. Germany has made all her grabs in moments when France was having a new domestic crisis. Italy suddenly made its demonstration when France was in the midst of a threatened general strike.

Doubtless France would not surrender Djibouti without getting something in return. The something might be an Italian promise to respect present French-Italian frontiers and perhaps concede something of her expected control in Spain. A promise to respect French frontiers was made by Germany in return for Czechoslovakia.

Timely Editorial

Back Under Control.

The Federal Communications commission has decided there is no need for it to take any action on complaints growing out of the recent radio adaptation of a story by H. G. Wells. It is hard to see how the commission could have done otherwise without branding its members as more foolish than the hysterical listeners who thought they were hearing a news broadcast of an attack upon this planet from Mars.

In the opinion of the government's supervisory agency, it appears unlikely that there will be any repetition of the incident, since the responsible broadcasting company has already taken measures to protect the public. We suspect, too, the most of the victims would be glad to forget the whole business as soon as possible. As the Martian panic recedes mercifully into the past, it looks more and more like one of those human experiences that seem to have neither rhyme, reason—nor moral.—Kansas City Star.

AN ARGUMENT ARISES

Conservatives Seek Amendments

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, who has about as many intelligent "hunches" as almost all the rest of Congress put together, takes the position that political and economic liberals have a virtual monopoly upon worthwhile ideas but that it takes conservatives to make them work. A conservative isn't necessarily a reactionary any more than a liberal necessarily is a radical. Our incoming national legislature promises to be mildly conservative. Its members are beginning to pile into Washington, and predominantly they talk that way. They don't want to repeal the laws enacted by liberals in the last six years, but they do want to amend them considerably.

Capper

In fact, they are favorable to the passage, in modified form, of several new laws which the liberals have tried to put through during the last three sessions but couldn't get majorities for.

Illustratively, the conservatives are as friendly to governmental reorganization as are the liberals. All that the conservatives don't like is the liberals' proposed method of reorganization, in all its details.

The Defense Issue.

Then there's the issue of national defensive preparation. This will figure largely in Capitol Hill debate henceforward. Now, if there are two outstanding so-called pacifists in American public life, certainly they are Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska (who voted against Uncle Sam's entrance into the World war) and Representative Louis Ludlow of Indiana (who doesn't want the United States to enter any war without a popular referendum). Yet Senator Norris and Representative Ludlow alike have expressed a willingness, in view of the obviously bilious world situation, to support any reasonable defensive program.

In short there's a certain getting together of conservative (militaristic) and liberal (pacifistic) sentiment.

It generally is agreed that the American farmer is as much in the soup as ever he was. The liberals themselves admit it. The agricultural system requires amendment and amendment and amendment. Its faults aren't the New Deal's exclusively. It's a problem which was tinkered with back in Coolidge's day, and long before that, too. The farmers themselves don't understand it.

The labor board row calls for clarification. Well meaning as that board undoubtedly is, it clearly needs a lot of fixing.

Anti-monopoly laws urgently need to be readjusted.

The railroads are in a heck of a condition.

Relief has got to be continued, but if it's continued on its present basis it will be established as Nazism or Fascism or Communism.

Holding companies, they say, have got to be curbed. That's an industrial question that Senator O'Mahoney's committee is rassling with.

Questions to Tackle.

The incoming Congress has got these questions to tackle.

It's got a lot of intrinsically good laws to make over—laws that are o. k. in principle, but impossible in practice.

Conservatives ought to have originated them, but they didn't.

Conservatives, trying to re-jigger them practically, are suspect—and maybe properly so.

At the next session of Congress the conservatives (mixed Republicans and Democrats) will commingle.

It's been years since the parties have been trying to re-classify, but the time seems near at hand at last.

Get Off That Fence!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

"He might have been a great man if he had repudiated something . . . but he never did . . . He never had the courage completely to accept or reject anything. He was half-pious and half-profane, half-good and half-bad . . . half-slave and half-free.

* * *

THUS John A. Rice analyzes a certain character in his delightful picture of old Southern days, "Grandmother Smith's Plantation," currently running in a magazine. And many a reader may snicker—or squirm—at the aptness of the description.

"He never had the courage completely to accept or reject anything"—

There's the reason for many a muddled mortal's failure—a reason which he, himself, never discovers.

They're well-meaning, these Fence Sitters. They're pleasant and polite . . . industrious . . . filled with progressive notions and lofty ideals . . . hungry for power and popularity—then why do they never get ahead? Other people—not half as respectable — people who are often downright brawlers and time-wasters, have enthusiastic followers and are always in demand. Yet these respectable citizens, who have never broken a law or been involved in a scandal, are treated with indifference or open dislike!

And it's the same in business and public life. In spite of the fact that they are often the hardest workers on the staff—never late, never soldiering on the job—do they receive a promotion when a vacancy occurs? Or a choice, political plum? They do not! Instead, it goes to some nervy, young whippersnapper who is always demoralizing the whole office with his scatterbrain schemes.

"Now is that fair?" the Fence Sitter asks in honest dismay and indignation.

Yes, Rail Squatter, believe it or not—IT'S FAIR!

Why does the Other Fellow get the breaks? BECAUSE HE'S IN LINE FOR THEM WHEN THEY'RE BEING HANDED OUT. While YOU'VE been perching on your fence, he's been down in the crowd where things are happening. He hasn't played safe 'n' snooty. He has taken sides . . . mixed in . . . put himself on record. That record may not be blameless. To the contrary, it may be as full of errors as a pup is full of fleas. But those very errors are a sign that the chap who committed them IS ONE OF THE GANG, SHARING THEIR RISKS . . . AND THEREBY EARNING THEIR TRUST AND AFFECTION.

For, when it comes to choosing between a Plaster Saint and a Peppy Sinner, the Sinner gets the votes every time! Not because he's a scallywag, not because he has some secret pull or trick technique, BUT BECAUSE HE HAS THE COURAGE TO BE 100% ALIVE — WHATEVER THE COST.

COURAGE versus COWARDICE . . . that's the real issue. The Fence Sitter, despite his fine pose of maintaining Judicial Balance, fools no one except himself. He isn't sitting on that fence to promote Culture and Justice. He's sitting there because HE'S AFRAID TO GET OFF. And John Q. Public knows it. He may be pretty dumb on other subjects—BUT HE SURE KNOWS A PIKER WHEN HE SEES ONE!

(Copyright, 1938.)

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

When Life Is Hard.

When life is hard and presses in
Its pain from every side,
I claim a day, a day or two,
And will not be denied.

I take a day, a day or two,
For my own self, I go
The merriest way my heart can find,
Naught of my worry know.

And then refreshed I turn again
To face my problems; now
With mind alert, I can for their
Complexities allow.

What's Happened?

Week-End Summary of Current Events.

SIMON BOLIVAR (1783-1830) led Latin Americans in 200 bloody battles that drove Spain from what now are Venezuela, Colombia, Ecuador, Panama, Peru and Bolivia.

He dreamed, 130 years ago, of "an august congress" of American nations "to treat . . . with the nations of the other three-quarters of the world."

At his call, the original Pan-American congress met in 1862 in Panama. Four Latin American nations were represented. The U. S. named delegates, but the congress adjourned before they arrived.

Uncle Sam, and every Latin American nation, had men there on the dot for the opening Friday this week of the Eighth Pan-American conference almost in the shadow of Bolivar's statue at Lima, Peru.

Trade Ties.

The conference met also in the shadow of the Peace of Munich.

German exports to Latin America (though still only half Uncle Sam's have quadrupled since Hitler came to power in 1933.

Representatives of the German propaganda ministry circulated privately among the arriving delegates at Lima this week, pumping hands and dropping a word in favor of totalitarianism, as against democracy, at every opportunity.

Cordell Hull, chief of the U. S. delegation, lost no opportunity, on the other hand, to talk up "international order . . . our American system . . . inter-American solidarity . . . further stimulation of trade."

Argentina proposed a ban on propaganda activities by foreigners living in South America. Thus the main conference issue shaped up: Germany vs. the U. S.

At Home

Roosevelt Rebuttal.

Heading north after his Thanksgiving holiday in Georgia, President Roosevelt stopped Monday at Chapel Hill, N. C., and made his first speech since the election:

"You have read that as a result of the balloting last November, the liberal forces in the United States are on their way to the cemetery—Yet I ask you to remember that liberal forces in the United States have often been killed and buried—with the inevitable result that in short order they have come to life with more strength than they had before."

The speech also was the President's first since the start of Germany's new war on Jews, and radio short waves carried it to Europe and South America:

"There may be those in the world who believe that a regimented people, whose every thought and action is directed by one man, may give some people a type of security which is pleasing to them. But whatever conviction I have, none is stronger than my abiding belief that the security and well-being of the American people can best be served by the democratic processes which have made this country strong and great."

Yardstick Too Short?

The president removed lean, greying Dr. A. E. Morgan as chairman of the Tennessee Valley authority last March for refusing to back up charges against the other two members of the board. Congress then set up a committee to look into TVA, and Dr. Morgan testified that his colleagues had connived to keep him from having any say-so about TVA affairs.

Back on the commitee's witness stand, this week, ex-Chairman Morgan said TVA's "yardstick" rates for electricity are so low that they would result in an annual loss of $3,157,000 when the proposed sysem of dams is completed. He recommended that operations be placed under a single administrator, with somebody else in charge of selling power.

The committee plans to hear a few more witnesses, then end its hearings and prepare a report for the new congress.

Better Business.

Last spring the supreme court ruled, in effect, that college football is a business. Customers at 351 home games of 69 major colleges this year totaled 8,164,124, an AP survey showed this week. That was 11% gain over 7,386,222 spectators at 353 games last year.

On AP's 1938 All-American team, announced last week-end, two positions went to Texas Christian university, and one each to Cornell, Notre Dame, Michigan, Iowa State, Santa Clara, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Michigan State and Pittsburgh.

News About 1939.

Great expectations for U. S. arms spending next year have been linked lately with predictions of a still greater budget deficit. Mr. Roosevelt soft-pedaled such talk this week by coming out for a pay-as-you-go policy for increased armaments. Even so, he added, higher taxes might not be necessary. The implication was that he hopes to cut other government expenditures.

News About 1940.

Democratic Sen. Joseph Guffey, of Pennsylvania, this week urged President Roosevelt to run for a third term. Republican Sen.-elect Robert Taft, of Ohio, said FDR would be easier to beat in his state than some other Democrats. And Texas folks formally launched a presidential boom for Vice President "Cactus Jack" Garner, of their state.

Drink Decline.

'Last Monday was the fifth anniversary of prohibition repeal. Now, it's estimated, the average American drinks only two-thirds as much legal liquor as before prohibition was adopted in 1919. Liquor men blame high taxes ($1,000,000,000 a year, state and federal), which they say encourage bootlegging. Temperance organizations say people have tired of the stuff.

QUOTES

Ethel Barrymore, actress: "God help us if we put ourselves in the hands of the youth of any country."

Sen. William E. Borah: "If this huge armament trend continues, the people are going to demand a voice in this matter of going to war."

Rep. Thomas (R - N. J.), threatening impeachment proceedings against Labor Secretary Perkins: "For some unknown reason, Harry Bridges (west coast CIO leader) is the blond-haired boy of the Labor department, and I'm sick of it."

Abroad

Pogrom's Progress.

Two weeks ago, Chancellor Hitler of Germany received Rumania's King Carol as an honored guest. Then Carol went home, and his government launched a bloody suppression campaign against a fascist, anti-Semitic organization called the Iron Guard.

A Berlin paper, this week, printed a picture of Magda Lupescu, Carol's Jewish friend, and her father—captioned: "Ugly Jews." On the same page was "The Story of a King and His Jewish Lady Friend"—a Nazified version of the Biblical story of Esther and the Persian king. "To anybody who can read between the lines," it concluded, "the Book of Esther reads like an actual occurrence of our times."

German officials, meantime, announced new anti-Semitic regulations restricting Jews to specified districts in Berlin and, as one Nazi explained, laying "the legal basis for the full Aryanization of German economics."

World's Wars.

In Spain, this week: Insurgent Gen. Franco celebrated his 46th birthday by predicting a quick victory for his side. But winter weather held up the fighting, and the lines remained about where they were early last summer.

In China: Both sides reported successful skirmishes and bombings, and China's renewed air activity was taken as a sign that she again is receiving planes from Russia.

Trouble, Trouble.

French Premier Daladier quickly crushed a general strike called last week to protest against his decrees ending the 40-hour week and boosting taxes. This week, he battled new strikes—caused by his efforts to crack down on the leaders of last week's. A sailors' walkout kept the giant Normandie in port, and at least one other liner sailed only because the government manned her with a navy crew.

Labor

Court Case.

The Wagner act gives the NLRB authority in labor matters affecting interstate commerce. What about labor practices of a company that operates in only one state but sells to companies that do business in more than one?

The Consolidated Edison company, of N. Y., frinstance, sells electricity, gas and steam to railroads and communications companies. NLRB, acting on a CIO complaint, found C. E. guilty of "unfair labor practices." C. E. appealed to the courts, on the ground that it operates only in New York.

The supreme court, this week: (1) Sustained NLRB's claim of jurisdiction, ruling that a C. E. strike might have a "catastrophic" effect on interstate commerce; (2) held that NLRB had exceeded its power in ordering C. E. to abrogate a bargaining contract with an AFL union.

Point No. 2 was NLRB's first supreme court setback.

Strikes Settled.

In Chicago, 600 livestock handlers went back to work last Monday, ending a 13-day stockyards tie-up, after the company agreed to bargain exclusively with CIO.

In Flint, Mich., 6,400 auto strikers (and 14,600 other workers made idle by the tie-up) returned to their jobs Tuesday after a four-day CIO "misunderstanding" with General Motors.

Case History.

From 1935 to Nov. 1 this year, NLRB reported this week, it handled 18,073 labor disputes involving 4,140,591 workers, conducted 1,616 elections and ordered 227,204 workers reinstated.

In Short

Broken: The Duke of Gloucester's collar bone, when his horse fell with him.

Appointed: James Roosevelt, FDR's oldest son, as a movie executive.

Married: Sally Clark, sister of Mrs. John Roosevelt, to George X. McLanahan, of New York.

Killed: Twenty-two school boys and girls and their bus driver, by a freight train, near Salt Lake City, Utah.

NLRB HEARING IN AF OF L CASE ENDS AT GALION

Examiner Hears Employes Say They Don't Want Union at Company.

GALION—At 12:45 p. m. Friday the NLRB hearing to determine whether or not the International Association of Machinists, affiliated with the AFL, is the rightful representative of the employes of the Central Ohio Steel Products company of Galion, in matters pertaining to collective bargaining, came to a close.

It was concluded after being in session since 10 a. m. Thursday. The hearing was conducted by Earl S. Bellman, trial examiner for the board. The proceedings of the hearing will go direct to the board for decision.

The petition which asked for the hearing was filed by A. G. Skundor, grand lodge representative of the I. A. M. in behalf of local 1151, Attorney C. H. Henkel of Mansfield represented the company, and the board's attorney was Max W. Johnstone.

Late Thursday a petition was presented in the hearing by W. H. Eichler, an employe of the company. This had been signed by 46 employes of the company some time between Wednesday morning of this week and Thursday and denied the need of an outside union in the plant at this time, and repudiated union authorization cards.

6 Employes Called.

Six of the 15 employes who had signed both the union authorization card and the Wednesday morning petition, were called to testify Friday morning. All testified that they had signed the authorization card, either to keep the CIO out or because of the threat of high initiation dues in event the union was able to obtain a closed shop, and they would be forced to join. Several stated that they had requested the return of their authorization card. To a question by A. G. Skundor all men stated that they had not signed any authorization card under pressure, and to Attorney Henkel they said they did not want to be represented by the AFL at this time, and that they signed the Wednesday morning petition of their own free will.

G. L. Stiefel took the stand Friday morning and said that he, president of the company, had asked Ned J. Boggs, field examiner for the NLRB for an election in the plant, and that he was still willing to have an election held. He was told, he testified, that an election was up to the board, and later learned that the union would not agree to an election.

Norman J. Schnelker, works superintendent at the plant, told of knowledge of the petition only on Thursday morning. Robert Timson and Richard Kesselring were on the stand to tell of their part in drawing up and circulating the petition.

This petition which had been unexpectedly presented at the hearing Thursday afternoon by H. W. Eichler, had been signed by 46 employed who stated they saw no need for a union at this time, and 15 of these signers had also signed the union authorization cards.

A Farmer's Diary

My Winter Tenant.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

EVER since the first cold spell, mice and rats have been migrating from the fields to the shelter of the house and outbuildings. They follow warmth and food, and both are scarce in the open fields at this season.

They walk about the lawn by daylight, unfraid, and eat the corn and mash we put out for the turkeys. Old rats, young ones; thin rats, fat ones; mothers, fathers, sisters, brothers. They swarm into the city sewers and market places, too, and even into homes. Even now, the Pied Piper would have a greater following, in any city, than Hamelin could ever muster.

I walked out to our mailbox, at the end of the muddy lane, through a driving storm of rain. I opened the little sheetiron door, and pulled out the mail. To make sure I had left none, I looked through the narrow metal box to the farther end.

No belated card or parcel was there, but two dark beady eyes looked at me above a loosely woven pile of grass, leaves and stubble. I stepped away to examine the mail, then returned to take another look.

The box is nailed to a stake, and stands four feet high. There is an open slot across the front, where a strip of tin is missing, but just how a lonely little field mouse could manage to reach that small opening and crawl in, burdened with material for a nest, is more than I can figure out.

However, there he sat, couched so contentedly upon his cozy little bed, so dry and warm, that I marveled at his wisdom and envied him his quiet shelter—for all the while, the cold December rain was dripping from my hat brim down my neck, and my face was drenched and water was streaming from my chin.

As I walked back along the muddy lane, I smiled at the remembrance, and was happy for that little mouse, who had builded so much better than he knew. I shall feed him grain when snow and bitter cold are too severe for him to venture out.

DINE TONIGHT

PERRYSVILLE — Members of the Perrysville board of instructors, school bus drivers, the custodian and their wives will hold their annual banquet and party in the school building this evening.

COUNCIL, JUNIOR CLUB MEET FOR PROGRAMS

Lady Garfield Chapter Has Dinner Meeting, Gift Exchange; Busy Bee Group Members Have 'Garden Party.'

BOTH the Past Councilors association and the Lady Garfield chapter of the Daughters of America met yesterday at Eagle hall. During the afternoon Mrs. Ethel Davenport conducted the meeting of the Past Councilors, and a dinner was served at 6 p. m.

Mrs. Hattie Kennedy and her committee were in charge of the dinner which was served to 30 members. In the evening Miss Florence Matthes conducted the chapter meeting, and a program was presented.

Readings were given by Mrs. Edith Meyer, Betty Lou Jenkins and Shirley Smith, and music was furnished by the L. R. and N. studio. Both organizations held Christmas gift exchanges during their meetings. The association will again meet Jan. 20, and the chapter will have another session Dec. 23.

Organization Has Friday Session.

An indoor garden party was conducted yesterday by members of the Busy Bee Junior Garden club at the home of Rosemary Massa on Marion avenue. During the afternoon the girls played games pertaining to flowers and trees.

Plans for programs for the next six months were made and announced at yesterday's meeting, and Mary Margaret Buhr and Charlotte Collins were in charge of the program. Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. E. Massa, mother of the hostess, and plans were made to meet Jan. 13 at Joan Perl's home.

Fourth District Group Has Dinner, Exchange

A Christmas dinner and exchange were the diversions of yesterday afternoon for members of the Fourth District of the First Lutheran church at the parish house. The dinner was served at a table centered with a small Christmas tree and red candles.

This year's officers were elected to serve for another term, with Mrs. Fred Zellner as chairman, and Mrs. Elmer Adams as secretary. After the business meeting, the group spent the afternoon quilting. The hostesses yesterday were Mrs. C. A. Charles, Mrs. Martin Biddle, Mrs. Charles Beard, and Mrs. Zellner. The date for the January meeting will be announced later.
